A Man Of Devotion

The 1986-1987 Carillon staff proudly dedicates this year's yearbook to a longtime member of the Bellarmine community, Mr. Tony Pelosi. Mr. Pelosi arrived at Bellarmine in 1943- not as a teacher, but as the coach of the Varsity basketball team. Yet by tutoring struggling students in his spare time, he decided that teaching was in his future. Thus, in 1957, he became an official member of the Bellarmine teaching staff. In May, Mr. Pelosi will celebrate thirty years of teaching at Bellarmine.

Since 1957, Mr. Pelosi has concentrated his teaching ability on Mathematics. Over the years, he has taught Algebra I, Geometry, and on occasion, Algebra II. In addition, Mr. Pelosi has further served Bellarmine by being the perennial cafeteria supervisor. Because of Mr. Pelosi's dedication, he is well known and well liked by both the student body and alumni.

As a coach, Mr. Pelosi was without equal. He kept the basketball teams winning and in 1961, coached the last championship basketball team that Bellarmine has had. Because of his commitment to the athletic program, in 1984 Mr. Pelosi was inducted into the Bellarmine Athletic Hall of Fame.

Mr. Pelosi's dedication and inspiration has been a guiding light for the general Bellarmine community. His willingness to uphold the ideals of Bellarmine has made Mr. Pelosi more than just a teacher or a coach, but a role model for all students to follow. For such great achievements, we honor and thank Mr. Tony Pelosi.

Painting The World

Welcome to a small collection of memories from the past year - a small collection when compared to the entire year. Yet it has been a small year, compared to a lifetime. However, these small memories and years, whether looked upon with happiness or hate, make up each and every individual who has been painted on by the Bellarmine tradition. This tradition has taught us not to look at ourselves as small pieces in a very large world; it has ingrained in us the notion that each individual, ourselves included, is an important part in a world where one small, yet always important voice, can make a difference. This tradition has worked to make us ready to change the world in many ways - through academic improvement, athletic achievements, spiritual reflection, challenging one another's thoughts, and social awareness. Just as Bellarmine has painted its hallowed tradition on to each and every one of us, we, in turn, now have the ability to share with the world what has been given into us. We have been given the brushes; now it is time that we go and paint the world blue and white.

First of all, we have been strengthened in thought for the task of painting the world. Our academic tradition has told us not to take everything we see as true. This tradition even starts our march to the world by letting us challenge the notions which we are being taught. These intellectual foundations have given us the ability to paint in sciences, languages, literature, math, and now, every facet of the world. Most importantly, we have been taught how to learn, so our supply of paint may never run out.

Being able to cover the world with blue and white takes knowledge, but it also takes strength, charisma, and grace. Our athletic and extracurricular tradition have placed these qualities inside each and every one of us. Whether our field of influence takes place on the track, in the gym, in the theater, at the podium, at the editor's desk, on the diamond, in the stands, in the pool, on the gridiron, or in the dark room, we have all strengthened ourselves in muscle, discipline, and most importantly, in unity. We are blue and white, not just our teams and clubs. It is a big job to paint the entire world, and now we can go out and do it - together.

Blue & White

Lastly, we have been given the talents to paint the world, but we also have been given the love and humility to let others paint their traditions, too. Through our social involvement, we have not only been taught, but have been experienced in the belief to go out and take the world in a loving brace. Sometimes this calls for letting our own colors mix with those of a different hue. However, we have learned to recognize others, and we can let others spread the paint.

In retrospect, we have been given the ability to change the world. We have the ability to paint, and we are painting it blue and white. It is our job to remember our times here. Thus we can make our paint endure both space and time. In doing this, we will allow Bellarmine's tradition, us being the most important part, to toll on through the twilight of our age, and into the sunrise of a new era . . .

The Service Club

Helping Out For Good

Eddie Wright relaxes in his own stylish way after a hard days service.

The Service Club is a perfect representation of the Bellarmine attitude: men for others. This organization has contributed countless hours of volunteer work to help out the Bellarmine Community. The club helps at different school sponsored functions, such as the President's Club dinner, the Golden Bell auction, the Mother's Luncheon, etc. All members must maintain a 3.00 g.p.a. and display a Christian attitude. Mr. Taylor is the moderator for the club and hopes to find this year's Service Club to uphold its reputation of community service.

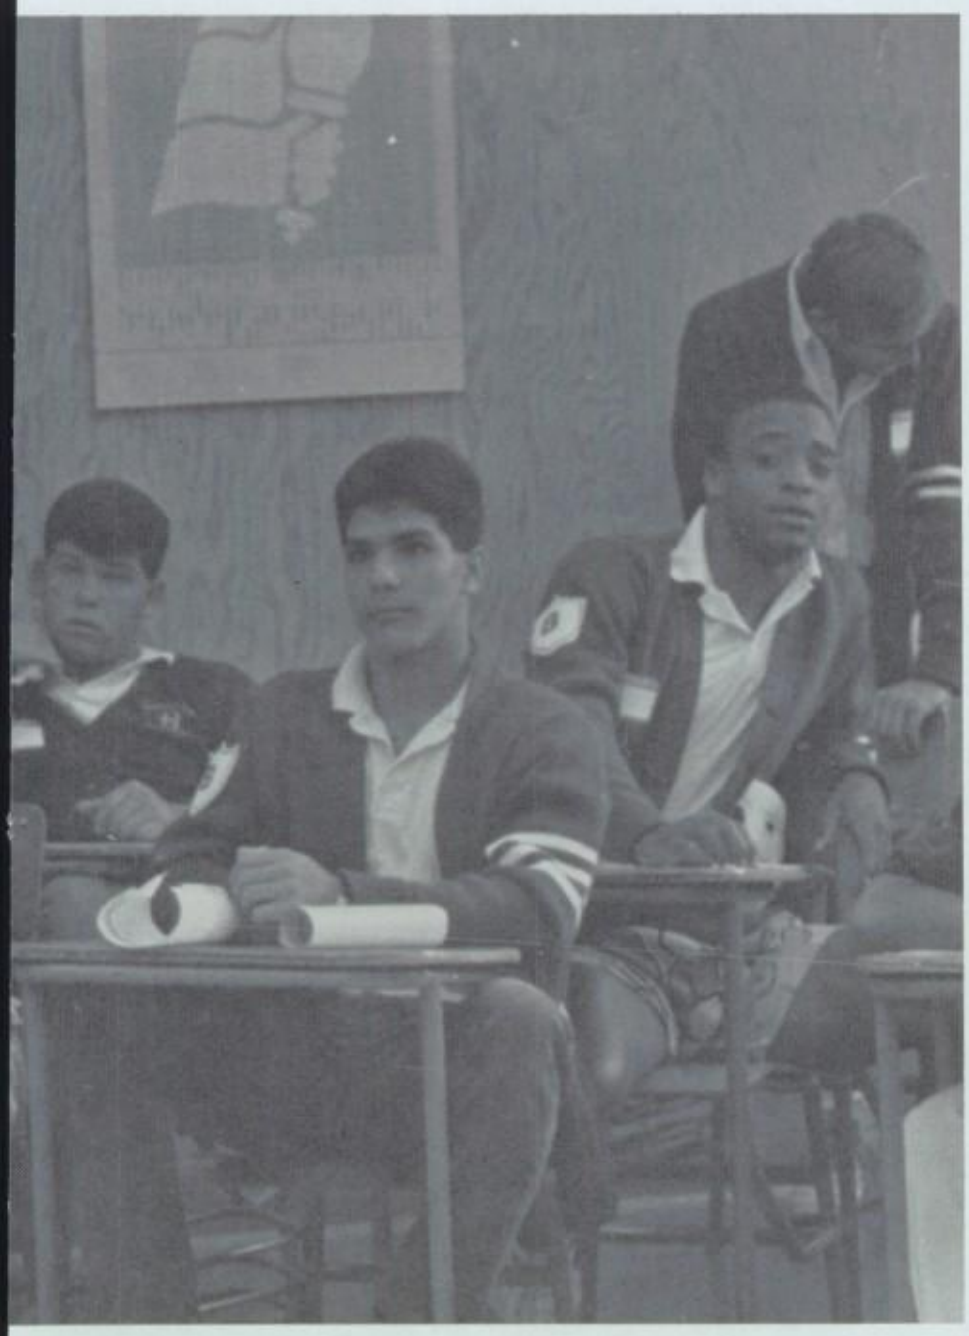
World Class Bells



The main purpose of the Block B Society is to serve the community. Its help is seen at open house, all home football games, the Hall of Fame dinner, frosh orientation, and many other school functions. It also sponsors the Block B dance and Marti Gras dance. Through its thirty one year history, it has developed into a self-run organization. This year, the co-presidents Rob Meinhardt and Pat McPherson have made the Block B a success. All members in the club have earned a varsity block and are involved in another extracurricular activity. Special thanks to Mr. Taylor for doing a great job as moderator of the club.

ASB

Leaders For Today

The Student Council at Bellarmine is vital to the representation of the associated student body. Without the elected geniuses, students would have little, if any say in what goes on at Bellarmine. The Council tries to relay messages and ideas from the students to the administration. They have the power to form clubs and dispense funds to worthy school projects. The Student Council is headed by President Mark Bernal. He, along with Vice President Sam Liccardo, Secretary/Treasurer Rob Meinhardt, and Dan Findrick as Spirit Commissioner, represent the Bellarmine student body and its opinions. The representatives from each class voice the ideas of each individual class at Council meetings. With such a competent crew heading the Bellarmine ASB, we had a great year as far as getting the students' ideas across to the administration.

The ASB Executive Council, which meets every Tuesday night at 5:30, convenes to organize and plan activities for all Bellarmine students.

The Bellarmine Speech and Debate team dominates the California Forensics League like the Celtics dominate the NBA-they have no equal. Bellarmine's NFL has won the state championship for three years in a row, a first in state history. They also sent ten team members to the National Championships last year, the most sent by one school from California. The team is coached by Bob Garcia and veteran Jim Harville. Jim has been coaching Bellarmine speech and debate for the past twenty years, as well as having a four year stay on the Varsity NFL at Bellarmine when he was attending high school.

This year looks just as promising as prior years, as Bellarmine is again among two top teams in the state. Competition will come from College Preparatory in Oakland and West High School in Bakersfield. If the preseason record is any indication of how powerful Bellarmine will be, then we should do very well as we won the UCLA Invitational in August-more than doubling the amount of points received by the second place teams. The leadership of the following members is the key to this season: Adam Schnitzer, Mark Nagel, Shean Midochill, Colin Preston at the Oxford Debate, and Drew Halen and Nick Gvosdev at the Lincoln-Douglass Debate. Also providing support this season will be Mike Green and Samuel Lu. With the cast of characters, how can they lose? The season will bring many obstacles and challenges, but this team will certainly be able to overcome them all.

S.I.C. A Community Effort

The Social Involvement Corps is very simply a manifestation of Bellarmine's Christian concern for the community at large and the individual student who attends this school. Led by Director Jon Scherbart and Associate Director Luis Quihuis, S.I.C. is the extracurricular activity at Bellarmine which attracts the most student support from all four classes.

The members participate in tutoring, food drive collections, the volleyball marathon, the Mission Talent Show, Hoagie's Dinner Night, Independent Aging program, Loaves and Fishes, the Nuclear Weapons Freeze, Agnew's Halloween Party, and more than thirty other activities dedicated to helping our community and people all around the world.

The students compose the S.I.C. five-member Core group, the 20-member Advisory group, and the rest of the volunteers. The only requirement to get in the S.I.C. program is a desire to help. Bellarmine takes pride in this special group of men for others.

Above: Steve Low tutors a student from St. Leos School. This is just one of the many programs that S.I.C. offers to the community. A New Tradition Begins

Christian Life Community

The Christian Life Community program serves two main purposes for students. First of all, it provides spiritual support and foundation; and secondly, to provide social support and foundation. Even though CLC is a fairly new program (only one year old), it has been an active program throughout most Jesuit high schools, internationally. In fact, Mr. Shane Martin, the moderator of CLC, was in a CLC group at Loyola High School, and his group leader was our own principal, Fr. Reese.

CLC is divided up into twelve groups, each having about ten members. Each group plans and holds its own meetings. These meetings, usually taking place during lunchtime, lets the members discuss life issues and problems, with students helping each other out through their support, advice, and comfort. Also, at these meetings, fun activities are planned, such as going to the beach, to baseball games, or even participating in a barbeque. To climax everything, and to show the true meaning of CLC, all twelve of the groups get together several times throughout the year, and celebrate mass. Through all of these various meetings, activities, and liturgies, the Christian Life Community program clearly bridges the gap between the formal and personal aspect of Christian life. As Mr. Martin puts it, "This is the most happening thing on campus."

Carillon

The Paint Crew

What is Carillon? Is it a new kind of Toyota 4x4? A tropical rain forest? A Mexican delicacy served with chili sauce and Ding Dongs? No, The Carillon is none of those things. It is Bellarmine's yearbook, that powerful yearly publication that stirs the minds of students with fond memories of the past year. The 1986-87 staff was piloted this year by Editor-in-Chief Jim Crawford. Along with him were five distinctive section Editors; Jeremy Eknoian handled the Student Life section, David Cohen the Sports, Anthony Malutta tackled Academics, Brian Stenhouse controlled Soph/Senior sections, and Marc Buchanan had Frosh/Junior sections. Yet the work doesn't end there. The two editors responsible for the clear photographs were Alex Makarewycz and Mike King. Alex operated the darkroom while Mike organized and coordinated the photographers with the events of the year. In the copy department, typewriter wiz Brenden Bevensee and Tom Csicsman successfully kept the articles in order as Copy Editor and Assistant Copy Editor. Also, keeping the money rolling in was Business Editor Jason Convento, the master salesman. Finally, rounding off the editors was the faculty moderator, Mrs. Sonia Serrania, who guided the staff remarkably. Yet the fun doesn't end here. A cast of thousands made up the talented staff, with writers, artists, photographers, and layout designers all working dilligently to complete an excellent book. "I'm glad that I got involved in yearbook," commented Senior member Joe Wilson, "the work isn't easy, but the teamwork involved makes it all worthwhile." Thus, when asked what Carillon is, the answer is simple; it is a Bellarmine literary publication at its finest.

They work for a fine journalistic organization on campus. They devote several long, hard hours a month to beat deadlines, sometimes going for days without sufficient amounts of sleep. They are an integral part of a program famed throughout the halls of Bellarmine . . . from the modern O'Donnel Hall to the antique Koska hall. They are the Cardinal staff.

Unlike other high school newspapers that are mandatorily put out by a journalism class, the monthly Cardinal, led by Mrs. Jodi Peterson, is a newspaper put out by a group composed entirely of volunteers. While staff members of other high school newspapers are complaining of unfair deadlines imposed upon them, our Cardinal staff cherishes each moment of the challenge.

When asked who her "key" personnel were, Mrs. Peterson explained, "True, the editorial staff is essential in organization and meeting the deadlines, but without all our writers, artists, and photographers, we wouldn't need the editors.!"

The Carillion recognizes the Cardinal and salutes you for your effort.

Praxis

A Social Justice Forum . . .

Led by Rob Suarez, the social justice league puts out an annual magazine that takes an in depth look at issues that some people try and ignore, such as abortion, the nuclear issue, euthanasia, etc.

The Praxis staff calls itself a Social Justice Forum. With their magazine, they hope to educate people who otherwise wouldn't know anything about the "touchy" issues. Once people know more, they will be able to formulate their own opinion and take action.

Praxis stands by their title of "Social Justice." Basically, they are here to help people learn how to treat other people.

Cheer-leaders

No school is complete without spirit. Spirit is not complete without cheerleaders. Therefore, no school is complete without cheerleaders!

The 1986-87 Bellarmine cheerleading squad worked hard to revitalize school spirit and take their place in the cheerleading annals.

This year's squad consisted of Dan Findrick, Mike Rossi, Joe Wilson, Mark Bernal, Scott VanGorder, Jim Crawford and Greg Armanini. (Average SAT score: 380 because they all used crayon, except Greg - he used blood.) The squad worked hard to rally the school into a spirited hysteria by using ancient Zen spirit rituals. These rituals included passing out to the fans the dreaded, yet spirit creating Tibetan Karma Kazoos, staging an unheard of Lancer burning and marshmallow roast, and the most drastic action taken in seven years - holding a mandatory rally! In short, by pulling out all the stops, the cheerleaders insured a fun-filled year.

Whether it was creating fiasco in the bleachers, performing human sacrifices, organizing a large student body into a spirit machine, dry cleaning bowling shirts, or just plain goofing off, no one executed these tasks better than the 1986-87 cheerleaders.

Dance

"This Organization Is Perfect For Any Person Interested In Dancing."

One of the newest clubs to Bellarmine is the Dance Club. Now in its third year, few people are familiar with this organization perfect for any person interested in dancing. There are wide varieties of talent and experience present in the club, with some members who know varieties of tap dancing.

This year, Miss Page, the moderator, taught traditional tap dancing to prepare the members for the auditions for the Bellarmine musical. Teaching dance for eight years, Miss Page started the Dance Club when sixteen students came to her and asked her to moderate such a club.

The Dance Club is for any person interested in dance, but just as any sport the Dance Club requires a certain amount of energy and commitment.

Bike

"I want as many people as possible to join the Bike Club, so that in years to come, after we have graduated, incoming members will be able to enjoy the benefits of what we started." said Eric Robertson about his goals for this year's Bike Club. Eric, a three-year veteran of the club, and others, will begin another year of riding under the moderation of Mr. Wong, the new club moderator. Mr. Wong wants interested candidates to know that the Bike Club is non-competitive, and that his only goal for this year is to get to know as many new students as possible. The club plans weekly rides, and usually vigorously enjoys them. Chris Peone, a three-year veteran, said that his favorite ride was "Mt. Hamilton because there are many kinds of terrain."

Band

The Bellarmine Band, led by Mr. Lee Woods, is a club in many respects as other clubs are. It requires a certain amount of time and commitment in order to make it a worthwhile organization. The Band is one of the larger clubs at Bellarmine, consisting of about forty musicians. The Band is well-known for its attendance at musicals and especially athletic events. They are a select group of the Bellarmine community.

Choir

It is a calm Thursday morning, about 8:45 a.m. Students and faculty straggle into Benson Theatre for the monthly liturgy. The residing students and faculty are then greeted warmly by an opening song led by none other than Mr. Pat Orr and his exuberent choir. This year's choir includes a new guitarist, Mr. Shane Martin, S.J. The choir is composed of faculty members and a few students. The choir adds character and culture to the Bellarmine community.

Fr. Reese, Mr. McCrae, Mrs. Kerr, Mr. Harville, and Mr. Martin make up the choir in the opening Litergy.

Yacht

After a year long hiatus due to an unfortunate audit by the Internal Revenue Service, Bellarmine's world renowned Yacht Club triumphantly returned to active duty. This year, an entirely new crew was assembled under the direction of the new skipper Napoleon Dynamite, S.J., and Chief Mate James Crawford. With their two 65 foot yachts, "Good News" and "Spirit is Friends", these affluent mariners cruised the high seas and won world wide merit for their outstanding racing abilities. Among other great accomplishments this year, the Yacht Club sponsored an international West Coast competition, The Jesuit's Cup, in which the cream of the racing world competed. Teams from Hawaii, Mexico, Australia, and even Sri Lanka participated. Yet even faced with such stiff competition, Bellarmine finished first. First Lieutenant David Cohen summed up the club very accurately when he said; "We are a team in rare form. Even this world's most distinguished clubs quiver in their deck shoes when they hear we are competing."

"Be a man, see the world, join the Science Exploration club." Last year's SEC slogan, generally sums up the philosophy of the members. This club attempts to make science more real, tangible, for the students. It is one of the few co-ed organizations at Bellarmine and mixes academics and fun. According to senior member John Reilly, the group is just "out to have fun." They go on numerous overnight trips, such as Yosemite, Point Reyes, and Big Basin to name a few. Mr. Wong, the moderator of the science club, sees the point of the group as getting the students to meet the physical and academic challenges of the sciences and nature.

Astronomy

The students in the Astronomy club are all interested in the stars, their composition, movement, organization, etc. The group is brand new this year, and has planned many exciting trips for the members. They are planning to visit planetariums, and star watching on the bay. This club is more academically oriented than other clubs, but is still fun for those who enjoy, or are interested in the stars. Mr. Wong wants to see students become inspired by the study of stars. Space is an unlimited entity, and the Astronomy club is ready to travel out into the unknown.

Library

Have you ever wondered who runs the library? Who helps Mrs. Lundguard and Mrs. Hawthorne? If you guessed the Library Club, you are right. The Library Club was established in 1969 to help support the library and to promote reading. It also was formed to help with book sales. During the year, the members of the club will take field trips to other libraries and also have parties. The regular duties of the club are to help check out books, and to assist with the circulation of books and periodicals. During school, two or three members will be working in the library. The club has twenty-three active members. As one member put it, "I joined because of the better access to library materials and I wanted to help the library."

Bellarmine Tutorial Society

Although Bellarmine is a college preparatory filled with many brilliant students, there are still those who are struggling to make the grade. Yet those students have nothing to fear, because of the existence of the Bellarmine Tutorial Society. This organization involves academically superior students who freely volunteer their time to tutor students who are not so gifted. The moderator, Mr. Bill Sullivan, because of the concern that each member shows for others, believes that it is "The most necessary organization at Bellarmine, which upholds the Bellarmine tradition of 'men for others; in every way." The tutors meet with their student for usually one hour a week, on the second floor of O'Donnell Hall. "The feeling I get, knowing that I am helping another student through school is reward enough for the time it takes out of my busy schedule." says tutor Anthony Malutta. With commitment such as this, the Tutoring society deserves much praise for a job well done.

Art

The Bellarmine Art Club is an organization whose main purpose is to explore art. The club provides a place for aspiring young artists to carry out their works. Directed by the Fine Arts teacher, Mr. Ianovich, the club has about fifteen members whose interests cover a wide range of arts. There are no requirements to get into this club, and as long as one has an interest in art he can become a member. As Mr. Ianovich puts it, "The Art Club is here to give students guidance in art which they could not get as a freshman in Fine Arts."

Photo

What is faster than a speeding shutter button and able to take great pictures in a single shot? Why, the Bellarmine Photo Club of course! In its third year of existence, the club involves Bellarmine students who, under the direction of moderator Mr. Bernie Cabanne shoot, develop, and print their own pictures. With the use of Bellarmine's darkroom, the Photo Club produces high quality pictures not only for their own enjoyment but also in conjunction with the Carillon. During school functions and student daily life, the members of the Photo Club take pictures of people and events in a candid manner, thus catching students as they really act. Also, members of this club benefit from the wellspring of experience that is learned by developing and processing pictures. Yet most importantly, members of the Photo Club enjoy the thrill of the unique experience available through the camera, because a camera allows an unlimited amount of creativity and freedom to make images of the world. Thus, the Photo Club offers a unique blend of fun and experience for all members.

Chess

The Bellarmine Chess Club is undisputedly the top team in both the county and this part of the state. They have held the title of Santa Clara Valley Chess League Champions for the past three years, while also boasting two straight years of being number one in the state. Despite such a strong team the past few years, many members claim that this is their strongest year ever. Their success is due largely to the fact that almost every day after school, members of the Chess Club can be found in Mr. Ryerson's classroom competing with each other.

From across the vast campus distance, the awesome sounds of music blare from two powerhouse speakers. Playing everything from the thrashing beat of Metallica and Led Zeppelin to the tropical reggae rhythms of Bob Marley and the Wailers and Burning Spear, KBEL, Bellarmine's campus radio station, is a student organization that gives budding radio personalities solid experience in the broadcasting world. The club, run by seniors Josh Michaels and Jeff Maser and Moderator Mr. Pat Taylor, allows students to be disc jockeys during the lunch period. With a whole new sound system, the Bellarmine community was rocked with a variety of alternative music. "The D.J.'s this year are exceptional," says supervisor Josh Michaels, "There are a lot of diverse people who adequately represent the tastes of the student body. I think everybody has one day in which they appreciate the music played." In addition, junior Mike Rossi, an avid fan of KBEL, stated that "KBEL adds flavor to an otherwise boring lunch, but it should be broadcasted over the radio." With the success that KBEL has had in the past four years, this possibility could become a reality in the near future.

Gill Cable T.V. Show

Adventures In Broadcasting

Lights! Camera! Action! These are very familiar calls to the members of Bellarmines definitive media club, the Bellarmine T.V. show. It is broadcasted on television over the Gill Cable Network on channel 2B. Students not only run the talent and writing aspects of the show, but also all of the behind the scenes action, such as camera work and production. Under the direction of Mrs. Sandra Billings, the club this year broadcasted the show, "At the Foot of the Bay", once a week. It involves Bellarmine students conducting important interviews with both local political figures and leading experts in diverse fields. Also, the show has a special section entitled "Undertow", which illustrates students artistic ability. This section covers musical performance, comedy, and special commentaries, which are performed entirely by Bellarmine students. Tom Csicsman, a senior member of the club, describes it as "An excellent way for students to get involved in an exciting communications medium." So next time nothing is on the Disney Channel, keep in mind that "At the Foot of the Bay" is the best show in town.

Bells On A Rampage

School Spirit Soars To A New Height

Like a giant blue and white tornado, a new wave of Bellarmine spirit crashed through the halls, touching every student, and every fan. This year, both the Administration and the Student Body gave a full fledged thrust to boost the spirit. Several programs were introduced to let students express their true colors. First, Bellarmine United Spirit Team, otherwise known as B.U.S.T. was organized by students for students, to keep the cheering section at the verge of insanity. Furthermore, the office of Spirit Commisioner was added to the ASB Executive Council. This position was effectively filled this year by senior Dan Findrick. Similarly, the cheerleaders this year put many hours of effort into keeping Spirit alive. "It was a lot of work," stated cheerleader Jim Crawford, "but students really take pride in Bellarmine now. It is a year of many changes for the better." Some of these changes include the first all school rally in seven years, a night bonfire rally, and even a student kazoo band. With all the foundations laid this year, the great whirlwind of Bell spirit will continue for years to come.

Christian Life Community

C.L.C. is a new organization at Bellarmine. Christian Life Community is an international Jesuit organization made up of high school, college and adult members. Communities are formed of about ten to fifteen people who act as spiritual and social support for one another. At Bellarmine there are currently twelve groups and almost two hundred students involved in C.L.C. The group moderators are faculty members. Meetings at lunch time, and discussion topics range from how students are doing in school to how students can grapple with the major questions in their lives. About once a month each group has a social (just for fun) activity. These have included volleyball games, barbeques, going to the beach, movies, trips to San Francisco, bowling, miniature golf, softball games. Group Liturgy and retreats are also a component. The director of the C.L.C. program is Shane Martin, S.J., assisted by Steve Artiga, S.J. Individual moderators include Shane Martin, S.J., Steve Artiga, S.J., Sonia Serrania, Sandy Billings, Steve Pinkston, Rod Wong, John Flynn, S.J., John Suggs, S.J., Luis Quihuis, S.J., Rob Suarez, Don McRae, Charlotte Smith, Pat Taylor, John Bisenius, S.J., John Scherbart, Pat Orr, and Mike Schmitz.

Frosh Retreat/Orientation

Learning By Experience

On October 18-19 the entire Freshman class went on a retreat. This retreat was led by over eighty Juniors and Seniors, who had spent the five previous Sundays working to organize the two-day event. The retreat's motto was "be yourself." This theme was instilled in the Freshmen through the activities during the weekend. The Frosh were broken down into groups of six, each group having a group leader. Dave Epstien, a Junior group leader, summed up the retreat experience; "It gave them an understanding of themselves, and a chance to reflect upon their lives." The retreat was a complete success, thanks to the dedication of the group leaders as well as all the faculty who participated in the event.

The Frosh orientation, August 25-26, was also a success. These two days allowed Freshmen to get acquainted with their new school. They got to attend mini classes and familiarize themselves with their teachers and the campus. Along with the academic part of orientation there also came some fun. The Frosh competed in a diverse assortment of games. They played against other mentoring groups in such things as a water balloon toss and tricycle races. These two days of fun and learning provided the incoming Freshmen with a chance to overcome some of the fears that are associated with entering high school.

Freshmen get a chance to exert their leftover grammar school energies in the tricycle races at the Frosh Orientation. Top: Dave Ellis entertains his Frosh while waiting for dinner at Brian Stenhouse's house.

"The Valiant" is a play about a young woman, Josephine Paris, (played by Elisa Dumesnil) who has come to a prison to see if a convict on death row, James Burke (played by senior Ken Balanon). He refuses to reveal his true identity to either the Warden (Brian Klaas, '87) or the Chaplin (Adam Kingl, '90). Josephine leaves the prison thinking that her brother has been killed during the second world war. However, after hearing Burke's last monologue, the audience realizes that he truely is her brother. The scene ends with Burke being lead to the gas chamber. Also included in the cast are the Jailer (Jim Wall, '88) and the Attendant (Brendon McCall, '90).

"An Inspector Answers" is, in two words, "Fiendishly clever." The plot runs rampant with murder, but no one actually dies until the end. Sound strange? This satirical play has the entire cast trying to do each other in, in order to obtain the Cornelius fortune. However, the characters dodge death by employing such tactics as blanks and bullet-proof vests. At the end, the tables turn when Freddy (Brendon McCall, '90), tricks the entire group into killing themselves making him the heir to the estate. The cast includes Reginald (David Koppel, '89), the Inspector (Jerry McCusker, '87), Lady Fitzbuttress (Kathleen Lusier) and Catherine (Dana McKinney).

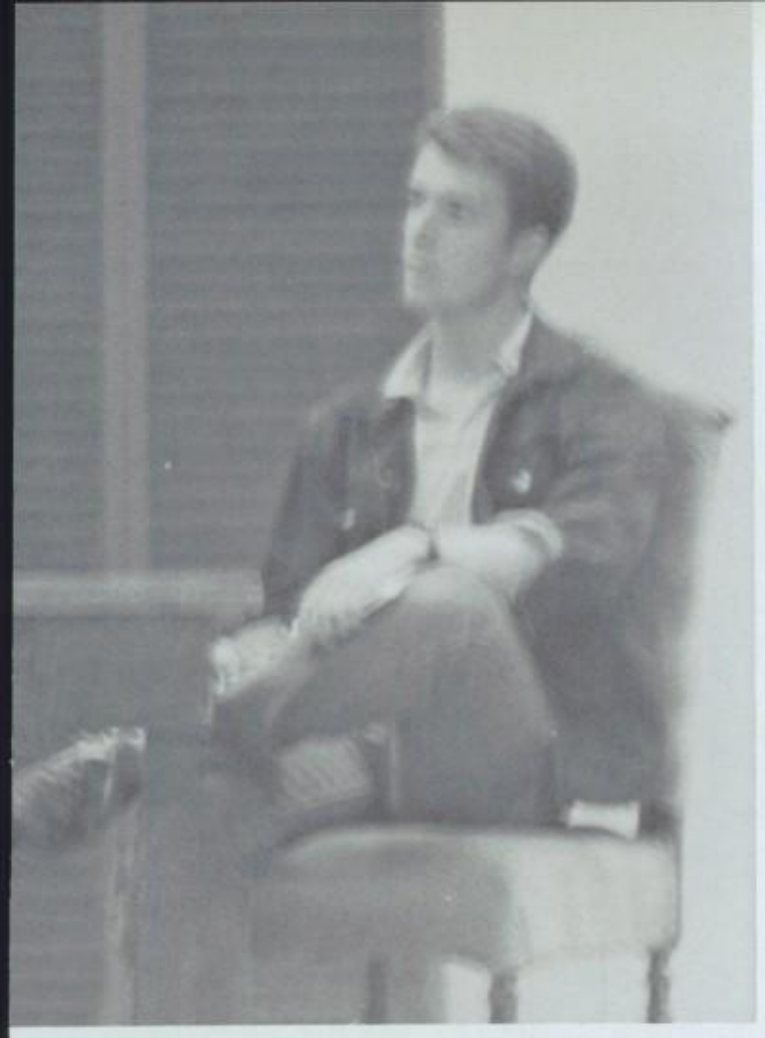
This year, the Bellarmine Theater Arts Department attempted the unusual. Instead of a single one or two act play, the audience was treated to an evening of four one acts. The respective casts began working in early September with director Don McRae and assistant directors Kevin Loftus '87, and Adam Condron '88, as well as the stage and technical crew, to create an enjoyable and unique experience for their audience. There were some minor obstacles, however. Scheduling rehearsals to fit the needs of cast members was a great problem. Also, obtaining a feeling of unity in four essentially separate casts proved to be a very difficult task. However, in the final weeks before opening night, things came together and a sense of comradery and friendship and support prevailed. All of the hard work and dedication paid off, and An Evening of One Acts launched the 1986-1987 Bellarmine Theater season successfully.



One Acts

"Who?" is a contemporary one act which expresses the feelings of a young man, Zach (played by Bill Kroenung, '89), who was tragically killed at a Who concert in Cincinatti. Prior to his death, Zach had changed his name from Geoffrey to Zach in hopes of aiding his search for "Who to be" in life. Zach objectively views his life and the people who were a part of it. Relationships between his mother (Lisa Cuellar), best friend Bob (Scott McGinty, '88), teacher, Miss Ploch (Laurie Mathot), and girlfriend Lisa (Justin Farley) are closely examined. At the end, Zach leaves the stage wondering what name they will put on his gravestone. From start to finish, "Who?" proved to be a powerful and moving play.

"All in Disguise" provides an interesting twist to the evening because it is performed in a "Tour de Farce" in Commedia Style. It is a fast-paced escapade that follows the adventures and sometimes misadventures of Piporello (Matt Young, "88) and his faithful sidekick Marco (Greg Kaiser, '89), two wiley vagabonds. The two become involved in a complicated "Romeo and Juliet" situation complete with mistaken identity and slapstick humor. Flavio, the romantic lead is played by Paul Starkovich, '87, and the lovely Florinda, his bride to be, by Maria Alderete. The cast is complete with Signore Pantalone (Jeremy Eknoian, '87) and the outrageous Columbina (Karen Simpson).

Inside a majestic Broadway theater the cast of Mr. Hennessey's (David Koppel) new production, Dames at Sea, rehearse for the opening number. The great Broadway star, Mona Kent (Mary Carroll), constantly stops rehearsal as the hours tick away. The cast takes a break as a small girl wanders onstage. One of the showgirls, Joan (Tracy Saurage), asks if there is something the girl wants. She wants to be in a Broadway show. Ruby Marigold (Cory Waletzco) came all the way from Centerville to be a star, but she left her luggage on the bus. In walks our hero, Dick Patterson (Daniel Findrick) carrying her bags. It just turns out that Dick is also from Centerville. He and his pal, Lucky (Greg Kaiser) are sailors on a ship that is on leave. Gee, it turns out that Lucky and Joan are old friends. Aren't you lucky! Just as everything seems peachy, the wrecking ball comes down and converts our little theatre into a grand parking lot. Oh no. Where are we going to put on the show? Golly, Dick. How about on the ship. But what about the captain? No, problem. They can take care of that once they get there. So, the entire cast packs up and moves aboard. But Captain Courageous (David Cohen) disapproves of having females aboard. Leave it to fate, Courageous and Mona were lovers back in their wild days. So again all is well. But Mona kisses Dick. And Ruby and the Captain see. So Mona butters up the Captain, Dick sings to Ruby, Joan and Lucky watch, and all of Broadway watches as Joan and Lucky use their trickery to get Miss Kent ill onstage. Gee, guess who is decided on to replace the star? You guessed it, its our lovely little tapper, Ruby. The show's a success. And what better way to end a love story than with a tripple wedding. Joan marries Lucky, Ruby marries Dick, Mona marries the Captain, and Hennessey marries all of them as the preacher. Truly a simple wedding.

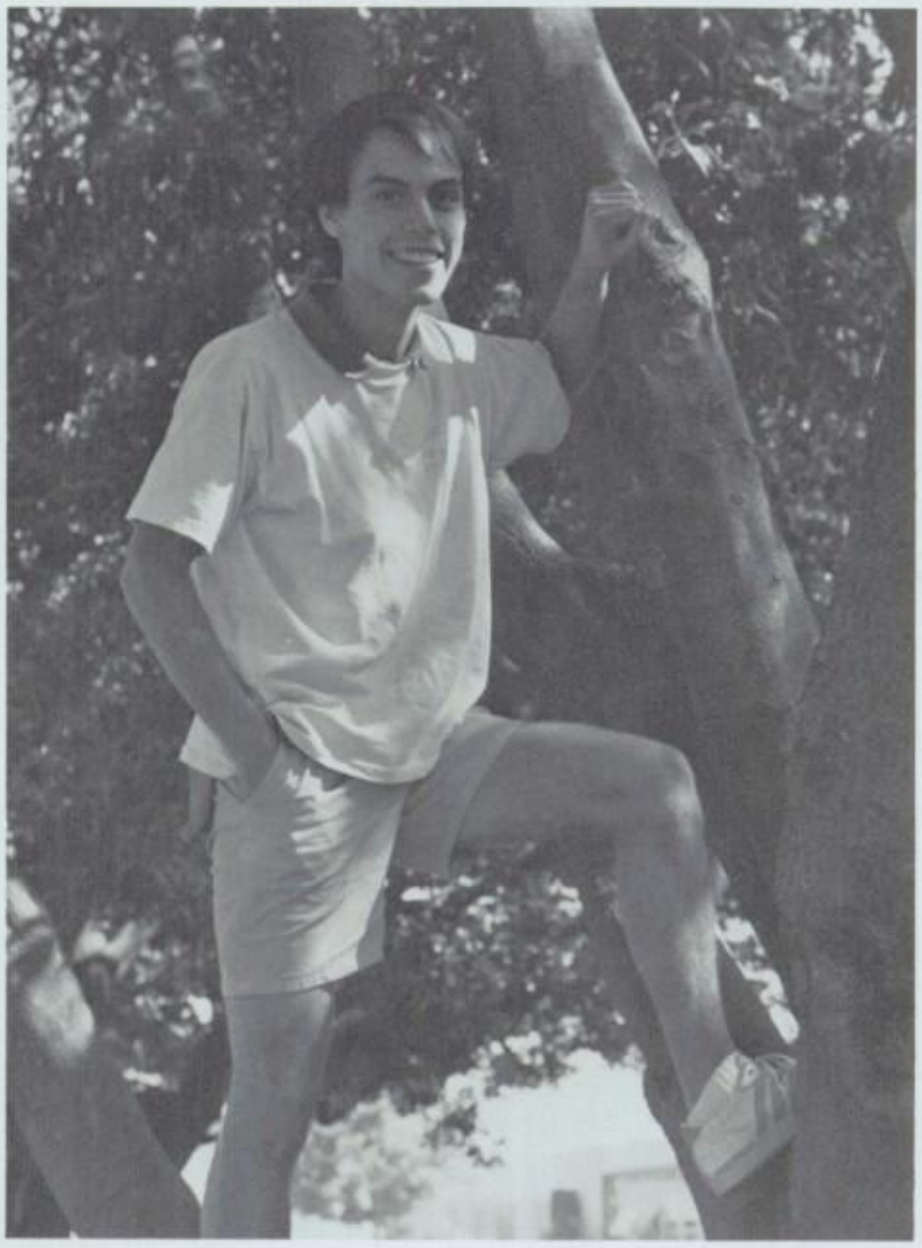
A Day In

At 6:45 a.m. a new day begins for Kevin Salmon. After a hardy breakfast of Cheerios, toast, and orange juice, he is ready for the day's events. The half-hour train ride, from his home in Atherton, is made useful by finishing the previous night's homework. Following his arrival at school, Kevin goes to his locker just in time to discuss with his cronies about one of his favorite television programs, "Pee-Wee's Playhouse." Once this important and highly intellectual matter has been taken care of, Kevin departs for Fine Arts, his first and most favorite class of the day. After Fine Arts, he wanders into Algebra I and then into Spanish II where he is taught by his "Best Female Teacher," Mrs. Serrania. In spite of all, lunch time arrives and Kevin is found at College Park either eating his home made lunch or playing video games and socializing. The next two classes after lunch quickly pass away and Kevin heads off for his after school duty as a football team trainer. When this task is complete, he likes to "hang around" until the train arrives. At home Kevin fools around with his younger brother and watches "Family Ties". Kevin's day finally ends as he falls asleep while working on the difficult homework assignments given during Freshman year, and dreaming about how he will someday rise to the ranks of a Bellarmine Senior.

Ed Wright awakens at 6:30 a.m. to begin another exciting day in his Sophomore Year at Bellarmine. In order to prepare himself for such excitement, he takes his routine shower, dresses and has the usual breakfast of Frosted Flakes. Before the arrival of his car pool, he gathers his books, walkman and other neccessities for school. Ed arrives at school at about 8:00 a.m. and enjoys spending the remaining time before class playing pool, socializing, or just "hanging loose" at College Park. His first class, taught by Mrs. Kerr, is Spanish 2 which he considers a "pretty cool" class. Then, Ed has Trigonometry which he said is "kind of weird" because he is the only Sophomore in this Junior and Senior course. After a pretty lively English Honors class, taught by Mr. Healy, Ed is ready for lunch. For lunch, he usually buys a burrito or pizza and a Coke at Bell Market. During lunch time Ed walks around (no place in particular) eating his lunch while listening to the Fishbone tape (or KSJS, KFJC, etc.) being played on his walkman. Ed stops from one place to another to socialize, wasting no time from his lunch period. After school, throughout the week, Ed is involved with a variety of activities, such as Praxis, S.I.C., Speech, and the Chess Club. He arrives home at about 4:30 p.m. every day. Prior to dinner, he watches MTV or other music channels, sometimes takes a nap, or talks on the phone with friends. Finally, Ed ends the excitement of the day by finishing his homework.

The Life Of . . .

David Zappelli leads a typically active Bellarmine life. Taking five solid classes, David still finds time to get involved in many Bellarmine activities. He is very active in the Photography club, served as a freshman retreat leader in this year's retreat, and is currently playing in the band. A clarinet player is this band, David looks up to the musicians Artie Shaw and Bennie Goodman. David's participation in the school band has given him a unique insight into the spirit of Bellarmine. According to Dave, the spirit at Bellarmine has been consistently positive since his Freshman year.



"Aaiiiiiigh," David Rice cries after leaving his calculus class, "I've been Schliemed!!!" Question: "So, Dave, how's life as a Bellarmine Senior?" Answer: "Physics, U.S. History Seminar, C.P.R., Academic decathalon . . . can I stop now, I think I'm going to pass out." Question: "What is unique about you, Dave?" Answer: "I'm on the five year plan. I was an exchange student in Belgium." Question: "Why would you want to do something like that?" Answer: "Well, I wanted to experience life in another country and . . . and . . . It looks good on the transcript, O.K.?!" Question: "Dave, can you give the people who are reading this article any tidbits of wisdom you might have acquired at Bellarmine. Answer: "Procrastination keeps the mind alert. Life's a beach and then you marry one."

S.I.C. Activities

One of the most important aspects of the Bellarmine community is its attempt to make Christian service a priority in school. The Social Involvement Corps, directed by Mr. Scherbart and Mr. Quihuis, S.J., provides a way for students to get involved with their community and try to improve it. A student can choose from a multitude of placements. Such as, Agnews Hospital, tutoring at Hester and St. Leo's, helping during the Christmas Food Drive, and there are many other placements and activities.

The Food Drive is one of the S.I.C.'s most important activities. More than two thousand five hundred food baskets are delivered annually to the needy of Santa Clara County. Many fund-raising events are put on each year to support the food drive. One, Hoagies Dinner Nite, is very successful and it provides a great deal of money towards the food drive. The S.I.C. is a much needed aspect for the Bellarmine community and for the community that surrounds us.

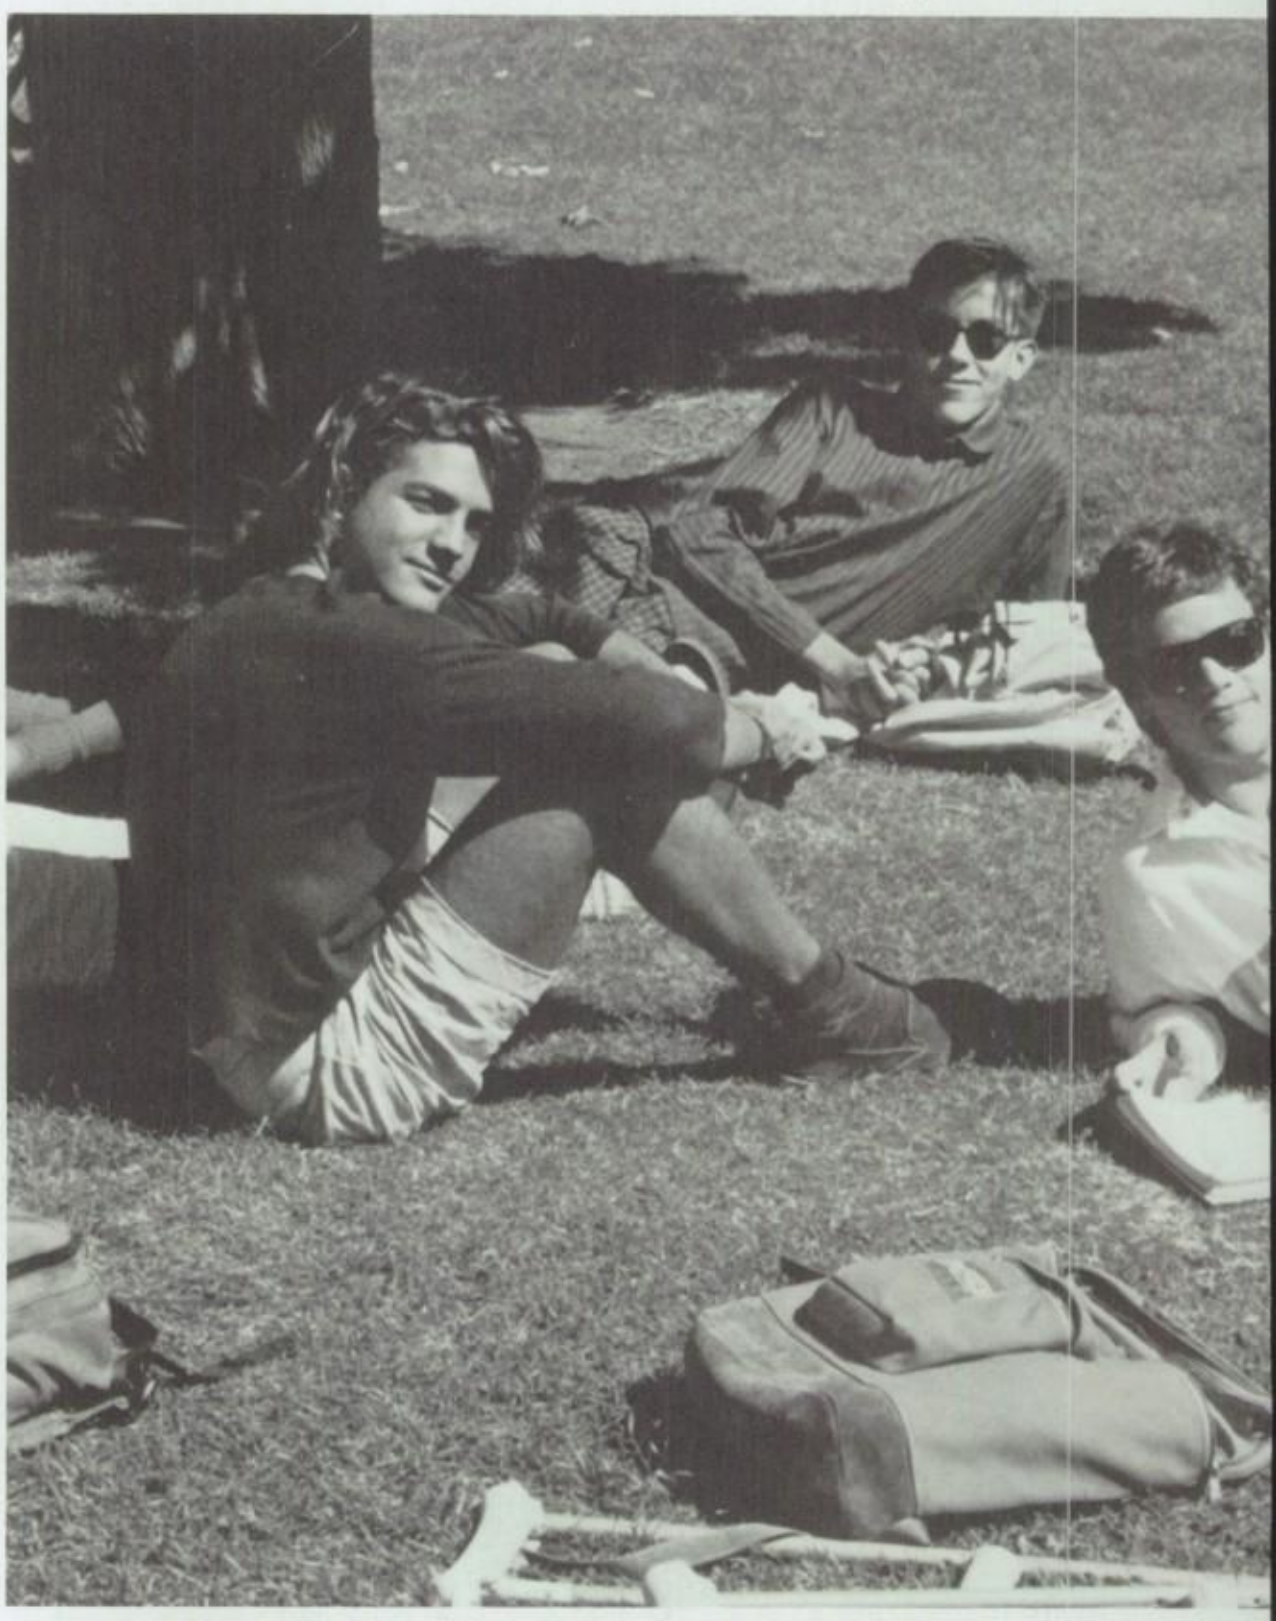
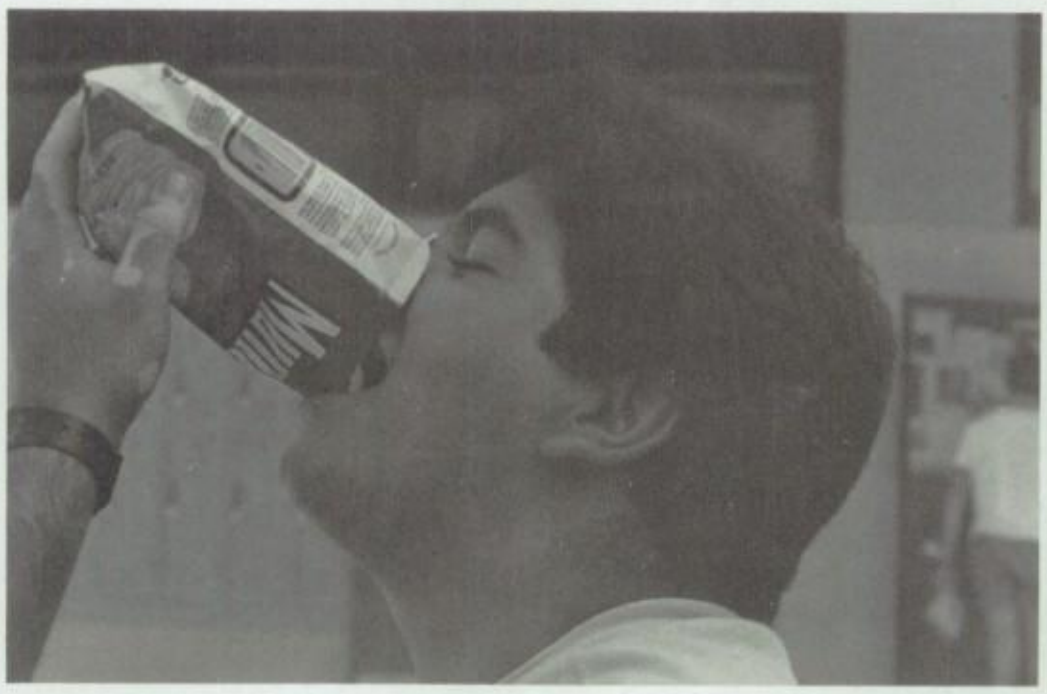
Lunchtime Hangouts

"Today's order is "A", with dismissal at 2:15. Tomorrow's order is also order "A" with dismissal at 2:15 . . ." After a long morning of classes, Mr. Kerr's voice relaying the day's announcements seems to go on forever. When the lunch bell finally rings, the Bellarmine students go their separate ways to eat. For those who have to buy their lunch, there are many different places to choose from. First, there is "Café Bell", Bellarmine's "illustrious" cafeteria. "The food's good and you get a wholesome, well balanced meal", comments one Bellarmine senior. If Bellarmine's cafeteria does not seem appealing, one can go down to the co-op, where he can choose from a smorgasbord of sandwiches, chips and sweets. If the cafeteria and the co-op are too far away, then there are three other establishments to choose from. First, one of the most popular is Bell Market. Bell Market, like the co-op, sells sandwiches, chips and sweets to the lunchtime crowd. Secondly, a student can get food at Cruz's Restaurant. This restaurant sells quality Mexican food at a good price. Finally, the last place one can get a good lunch on campus is College Park. If a student forgets his lunch, at home, or has no time to make it, or just wants to eat out, there are plenty of options open to him.





Top: Seniors Adam Fields, Olaf Domis, Gary Devita, and Jeremy Eknoian study on the quad. Above: Allen Lopez scarfs some grimmace proportions. Right: Lunchtime at the Co-op.

Top: Junior Matt Christensen plays it cool in the back parking lot. Above: Senior Mark Hamer eats his sandwich and listens to KBEL on the grassy green of the quad.

Whether you buy your food at school or bring it from home, there are many places where you can spend your time during lunch. One of the most popular areas is in the quad where students can eat their lunch, talk to their friends, and listen to KBEL at the same time. If you like video games, both College Park and Bell Market have a variety, where for 25 cents you can have a couple minutes of pure excitement. For a more quiet atmosphere, eating in the wings or on the lawn outside the 600 wing is recommended. "I eat here because it's in the sun, it's quiet, and there are no Frosh," comments Junior Dave Debaldo. Finally for music, sun, and a little football, smashball or Frisbee, the back parking lot is the place to be. Some of the Seniors eat their lunch while listening to their car stereos. It seems that whatever you like to do during lunch, there is a place for you on the Bellarmine campus.

Steps To College

There are many steps that a student must take in his journey toward a college education. One of the most important steps a student must take into account throughout his career at Bellarmine is making sure he takes college preparatory courses. If the student can maintain a good G.P.A. while taking these college preparatory courses, he has an important step out of the way. Another important step toward college is taking the college entrance tests. Many colleges require an applicant to take the S.A.T. and the Achievement tests. Taking these tests is sheer torture. "Right before the test," commented one Senior, "I got really anxious. I said to myself 'this could make or break me. God I hope I don't screw up.' But in the end the test is easier than one expects." High scores on these tests will enable the student to rest easier, for these tests are important criteria for the admissions committee at any college or university. By reading books or using his common sense, a student can choose some colleges to apply to. The application process is long and difficult. For each university, many forms have to be filled out and up to three essays must be written. When all the applications are sent away, and the grades are kept stable, the waiting begins. For four to five months a student must anxiously wait for one of the most important pieces of mail; the acceptance or rejection letter.

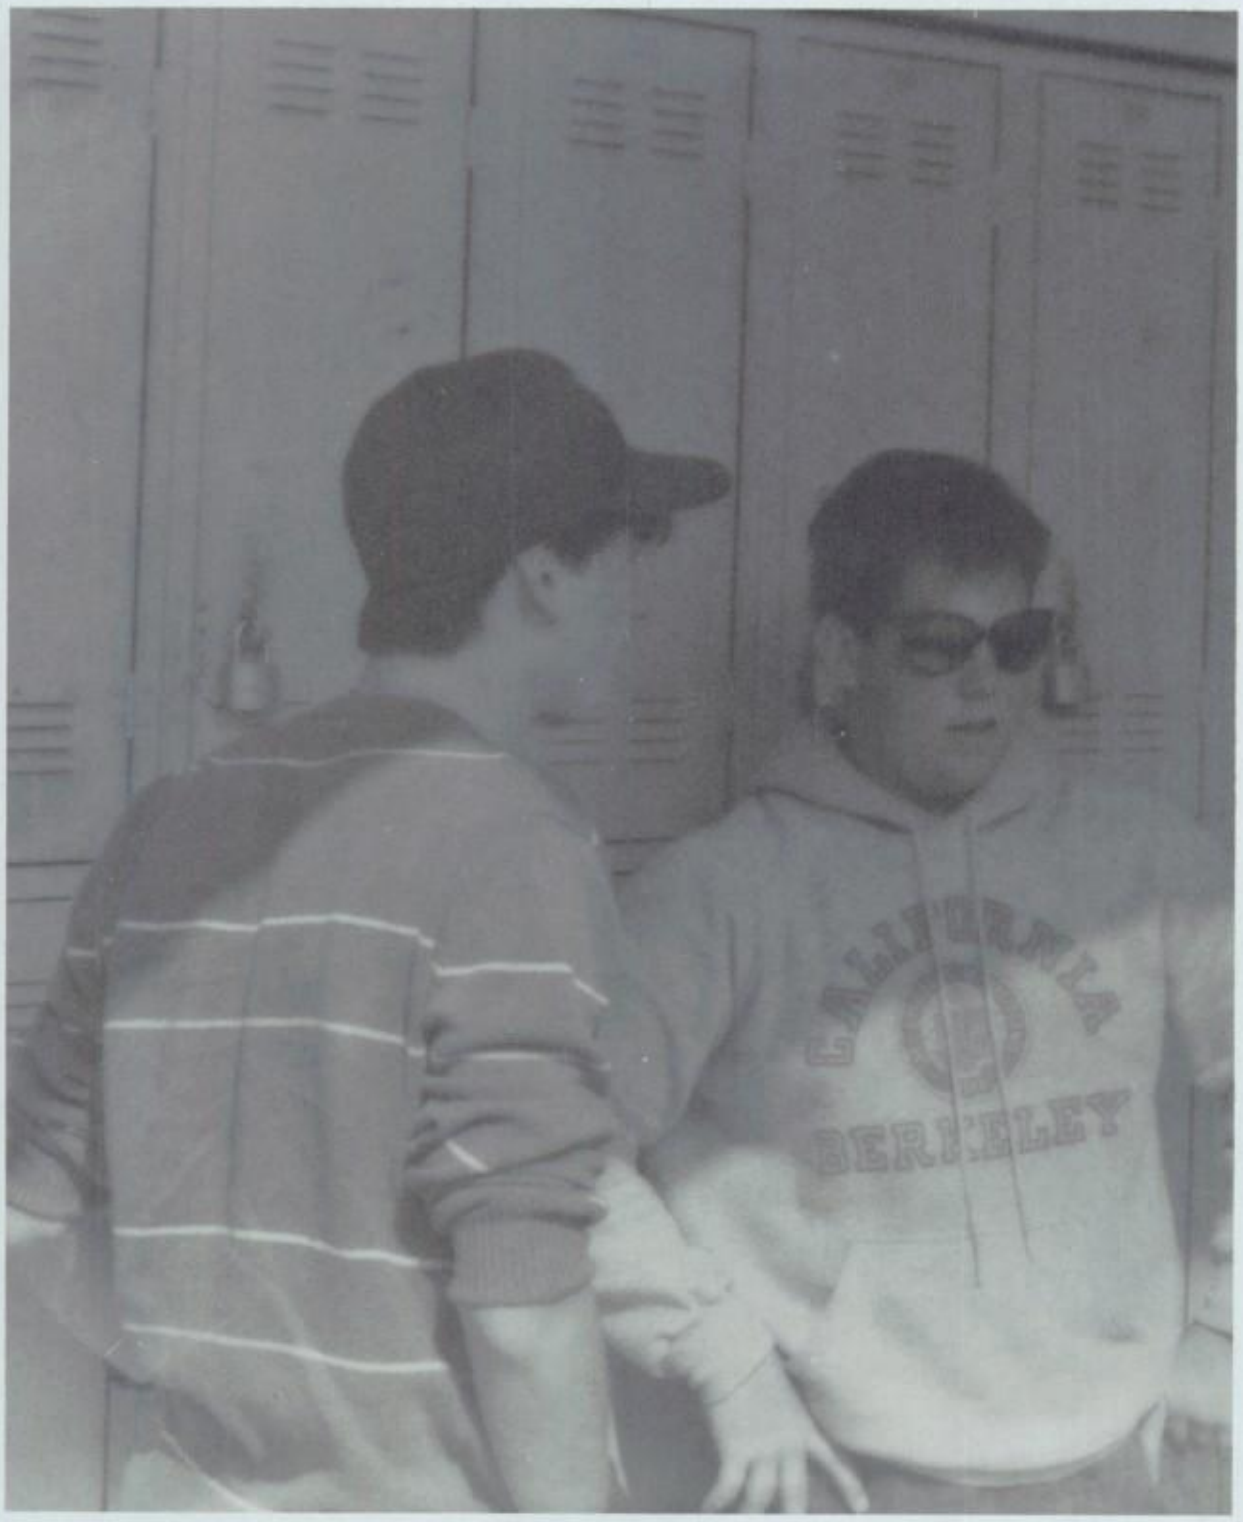
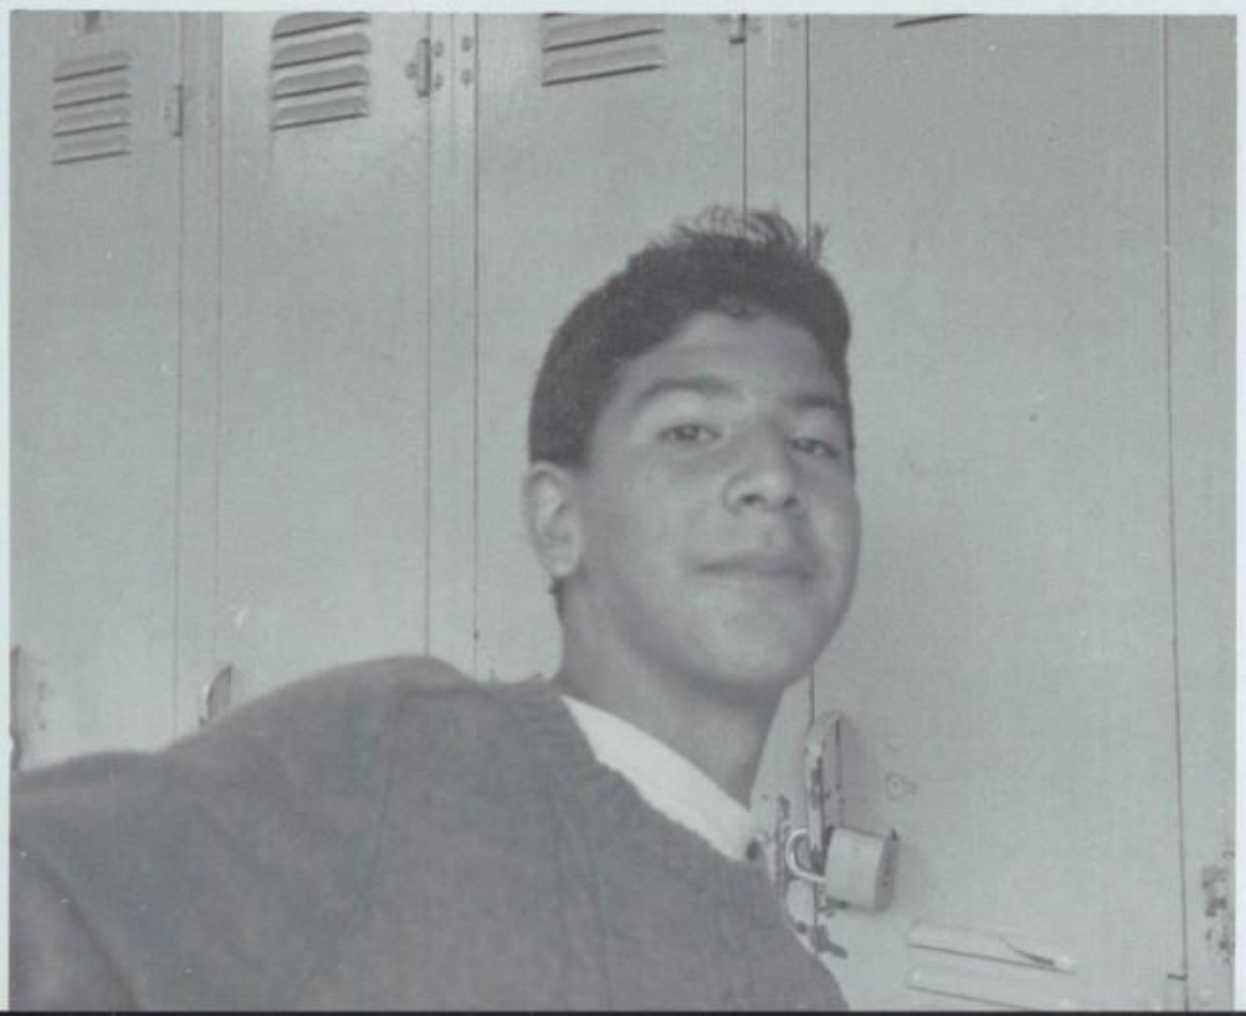
Lockers





"I like them because it's quicker. You don't spend as much time opening your locker." Such was the response from a Bellarmine Sophomore about the new key lock system implemented this year. This is a change from the old combination lock system of last year. The change was brought upon a need to remove the problems that the old locks created. Every weekend last year, between three and four lockers were broken into, either as a practical joke or for theft. As a result, parents came to the administration for an explanation. Now, with the new key locks, there have been no break-ins. The locks are virtually impossible for a normal student to break into. "The responsibility is now on the student," says Mr. Kerr, who believes that in "the long run, it's going to be a benefit to the students." At this point, as a result of students losing or forgetting their keys, Mr. Kerr has to open, on an average, five lockers each morning. As one Senior puts it, "I think that it is more of a problem for the lower classmen. They only have one key to carry around, which is easily lost. But for the people with cars and more than one key, it is a lot harder to lose your locker key." The students just have to be a little more responsible. As the face of Bellarmine changes, it causes the students to change with it.

Getting To School

Transportation

Be it Custom Cruiser, a Camaro, a Datsun, Amtrack, or the County Transit, a means for transportation is very important to each Bellarmine student. A major concern to both parents and students, transportation has evolved incredibly since the early days when Joe Bellarmine had to wait until his Junior year before he could use his parent's horse and buggy. Today, the answer to transportation is simple: the Senior drives a load of sweaty-palmed Freshmen to and from school and in turn receives enough money to buy a lifetime supply of gas for the entire student body.

Besides the automobile, the City Transit provides transportation for a great many pupils. Amtrack, which interrupts classes hourly, is another popular mode of transportation. Bicycles, though a fading fad, provide dependable service for the locals. Discarding the wheel, some rebellious students prefer to walk to school. One student explains that he drives to the train station, catches the train, and upon arrival walks a short ways to school. With all these innovative body movers, everyone, from the nervous, but organized Freshman, to the easy-going Juniors and Seniors, can get to school on time. The explanation for the 2.5 million tardies still remains a mystery.

Intramurals

Football

Basketball

Volleyball

Softball

The intramural program at Bellarmine encompasses a wide variety of noon-time sports. This activity provides the student body with an important element: fun. Students combine their talents in order to make up football, basketball, volleyball, and softball teams. Headed by Mr. Urhausen, the program enables students to play sports competitively with fellow classmates. Games are played at lunch and at the end of the season, the teams with the best records enter the playoffs. This year, the faculty football team was victorious over the challenging team "Sweetness." The victors earned the intramural championship title, and the defeated received a lifetime supply of Turtle Wax and Lee Press On Nails.

Teacher Dress Up Day

From buttons to banners, everyone at Bellarmine has tried and succeeded in promoting fellowship and pride in their school. To increase school spirit, students, faculty, and staff have been encouraged to attend monthly liturgies, sporting events, and other school sponsored activities. When it came to Halloween, there were no exceptions. On the thirty-first, teachers and administrators were not seen in their normal school attire but rather in wacky and outrageous costumes. Ms. Billings came dressed as a Roller Derby Queen complete with bandaids and cigarettes. Another highly original costume was worn by Mr. Urhausen. Seen in a red cap and wearing a long white sheet with the words "close up" written down the front, her personified a tube of toothpaste.

It certainly can never be said that this year's faculty and staff lacked school spirit! Thank you all for your participation, and to you we dedicate this page.

Dance Til You Drop!

Block B Dance

The Block B Dance, sponsored by the Block B Club, was Bellarmine's only fall date mixer this year. For a mere fourteen dollars, students enjoyed an evening of fun and frivolity, pictures included. However, most guys chose to invite their dates out to dinner beforehand, or coerce their moms into preparing a sumptuous meal for them and their friends. In any case, people arrived by 9:30 to meet friends and socialize. Their main focus, however, was to hit the dance floor. This year, couples danced to the sounds of the group Alibi, and snacked on cookies and the infamous red punch, both provided for by the Block B Club. At midnight, the dance ended and people went their separate ways. For some, the party continued, while others had to rush home to beat their date's curfew. Once again, the Block B Dance proved to be an enjoyable event for all those who attended.

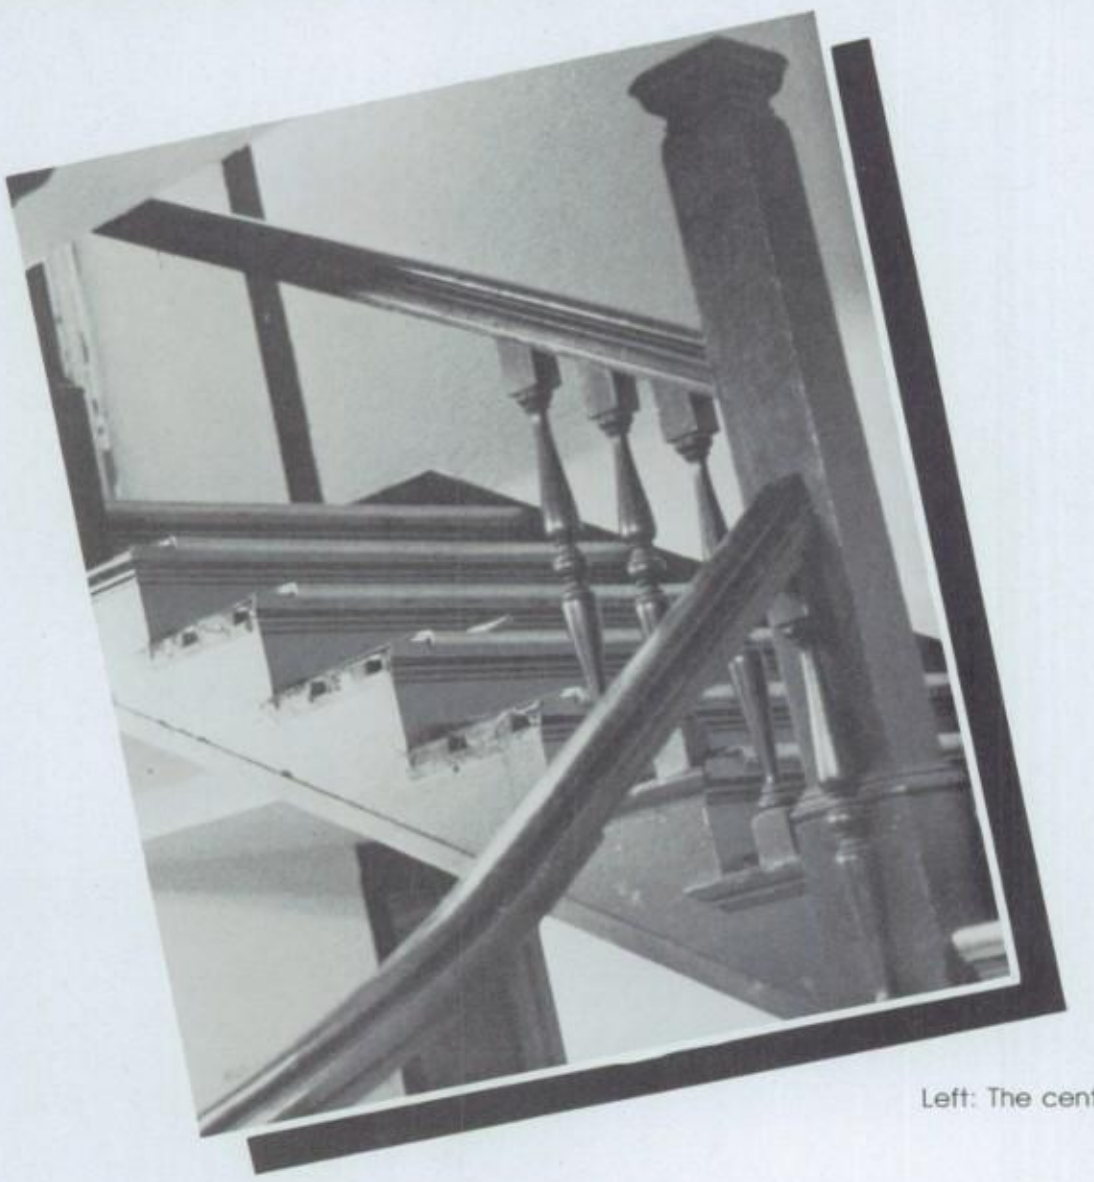
Kostka Hall: C. 1900-1987



While walking through the 100 wing, a student might notice an old and decrepit building across from the classrooms. Most students these days have probably never even stepped foot into this building. It is, of course, Kostka Hall, a building with a rich history. It was built in the early 1900's, the same time as the old gym. Kostka Hall has become part of our school for about 80 years, and it is scheduled for demolition this summer, thus ending an era. Before it was put out of use three years ago, it served as many purposes. Originally, it was used as a residence hall to Freshmen and Sophomores. In 1966, it was converted to classrooms and teacher's offices. It was considered unsafe in 1983, and use of the building was halted. It will be replaced by new science facilities. In this way, the old will be replaced by the new in order to fill the needs of the modern Bellarmine community.

BELLARMINE BULLETIN

Friday, Feb. 30, 1987
Today's order: STOP!
Tomorrow's order:GO!

Monday's regularly scheduled mentoring period will be replaced by Mark Bernal's President's Report. It's Mark, so he can't have much to say.

Monday's morning liturgy and Tennis Talk will be celebrated by our guest celebrity, Fr. Bjorn Reese.

Saturday Jug: Anyone wishing to have Saturday jug is asked to fill out a raffle ticket. The drawing will be held after school for all you excited candidates.

Anyone signed up for the Jesuit Reserves should report to St. Robert's Hall right after these announcements to obtain their Roman collar, button-down black jump suit, and holy water hand grenades.

Brief note from Mr. Kerr to all members of the Bellarmine Suicide Squad: Stop hanging around the gym at lunch.

Cheerleaders: Report to room 010 to receive yet another letter from "Concerned Parents against Nasty Cheers."

A brief meeting after school for the Billings-Martin-Artiga-Martin-Billings-Artiga-Billings-Martin-Artiga-Martin-Billings CLC group to figure out what "CLC" stands for.

Monday is library book due date, but who cares.

Today's college reps. are meeting today in Andrade Theatre. The Reps are from Whatsamata University ,Penn State, State of Confusion, and Stanford.

Today is day #1 of Intramural Polo. Gee, I sure hope those horses can swim!

For transcripts of today's announcements, ask your friend. Better yet, ask a frosh; he probably wrote it down.

Student Activities Center

Bellarmine's Student Activity Center opened three years ago to house a hodge-podge of different clubs and activities. Serving as a gathering place for the Student Council, SAC also serves as a meeting place for countless other organizations such as the Social Involvement Corps and the service club. In addition, SAC is also the home of KBEL and the annual Magazine Drive. Mr. Taylor, the director of student activities, can be found in his spacious but cozy office in the Student Activity Center. He explains that, in contrast to the strict rules of the library, SAC is a casual environment in which students can study, socialize, or productively combine the two. It is a safe place for the Freshmen to hide from the Seniors, as well as a comfortable alternative to a cold and wet lunch. Due to its overwhelming success, the Student Activity Center is likely to grow in the future. As one student concludes, "It's just the place to be."

A View

In October of this school year, something different took place. An aerial photograph of Bellarmine's beautiful campus was taken. Although this does not seem so unusual, there is a small twist to the event. Instead of hiring a professional photographer and pilot to undertake the task, it was organized and executed entirely by Bellarmine students.

The two main developers of the event were seniors Steve Zanger and Mike Mariant. Steve, who recently obtained his pilot's license, flew a 185 horsepower Cherokee Archer out of San Jose Airport during lunch while Mike snapped the picture. Meanwhile at school, as several proud seniors displayed a large '87 banner atop Liccardo Center, students gathered around two Bellarmine banners on the Senior Lawn. "It is a view of Bellarmine that most students do not see," mentioned Steve Zanger. "It puts it all in a different perspective." Hence, this view from above will remain an interesting treasure for many years to come.

Bells Against Drunk Driving

In recent years, American Society has been hot on the trail of a serial killer which has claimed the lives of countless people, especially teenagers. This killer is none other than drunk driving. With the formation of such groups as Mothers Against Drunk Driving, society voiced its angry opinion to stop this killer. This year, some concerned Bellarmine students decided to get into the act. The result was Bells Against Drunk Driving, otherwise known as B.A.D.D. The club was originally started at the end of last year's school year, under the direction of Mr. Mike Schmitz, J.P. Gallagher '88, Pat McPherson '87, and John Zilinskas '87. "The main objective of the club is not to attempt to stop students from drinking, because that is virtually impossible," stated J.P. Gallagher. "We are just trying to make them aware of the dangers involved when alcohol and driving are mixed." In addition, B.A.D.D. attempted a Safe-Rides program, where students could call and get a free ride home, no questions asked. Yet the involvement does not stop there. Among its future goals, the club desires to organize and Awareness Night, which would discuss the risks involved, and propose alternative ways to have fun without drinking. Thus, with good intentions as these, Bells Against Drunk Driving should be able to rid this killer from Bellarmine's seventeen wooded acres at no time at all.

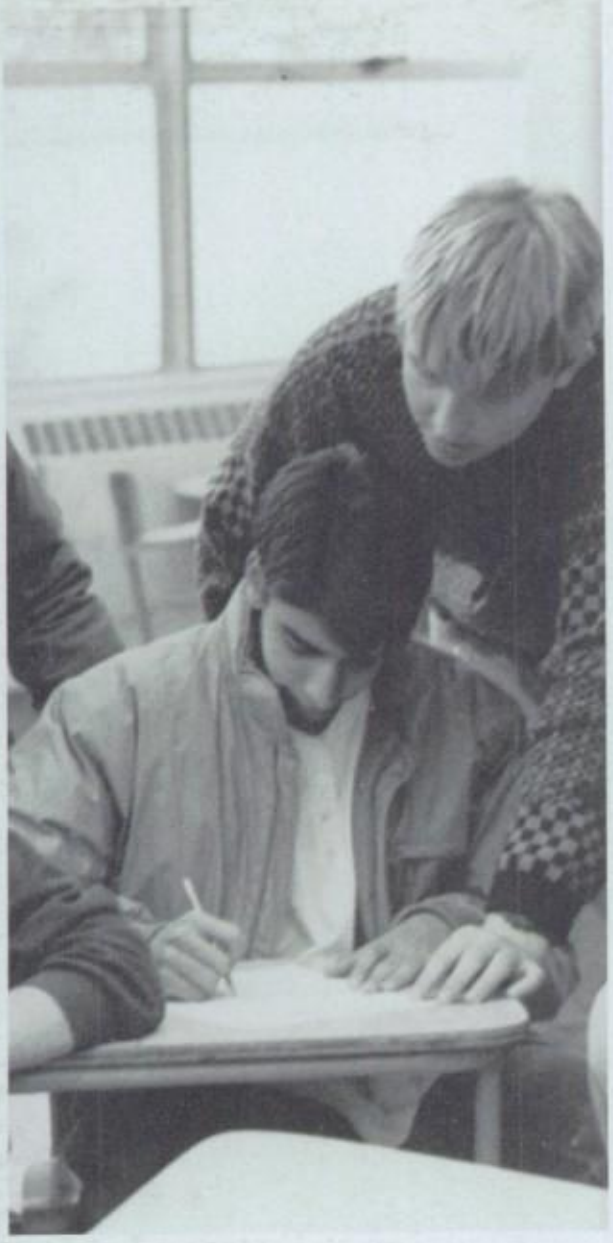
A Conspiracy Of Hope



Bellarmine's Amnesty International founder Niraj Sharma shows them how it's done.

Amnesty Core members sport souvenir T-shirts from the conspiracy of hope concert.

Amnesty International

The small cell was dark and damp. He had forgotten how long he had been imprisoned or whether it was day or night. He was half starved, and what food he was given was usually eaten by the rats. Yet worst of all, he was tortured daily. There seemed no hope at all . . . This fictional account is not far from the truth. In many countries around the world, men and women are imprisoned and tortured for their religion, their beliefs or their political affiliation. To protect these human rights, the organization Amnesty International was formed. This year, Bellarmine started its own campus chapter of Amnesty International, a club which has attracted great interest throughout the school.

The forming of an Amnesty International chapter at Bellarmine was the brainchild of Niraj Sharma, '88. His interest in the organization was sparked last summer at the Conspiracy of Hope, a benefit concert which featured rock performers such as Sting and U2 raising money for Amnesty International. "I thought that because Bellarmine puts such an emphasis on social awareness," says Niraj, "the school should have an organization which allows the student to get involved in a good cause." Thus, with the aid of moderator Rob Suarez, the club was introduced into the mainstream of campus life. The activity of the club largely rests in the Urgent Action Network. This program places immediate pressure on foreign governments which are abusing human rights through letter writing campaigns, telegrams, and phone calls. The club meets twice a month to compose these letters, which are very effective in freeing prisoners of conscience. Thus, with the help of Bellarmine's new A.A. chapter, there is hope for that weary prisoner in the dark, damp cell.

Joe Bell

The Man, The Myth . . .

In the 135 years of Bellarmine tradition, there has remained one student, one god, one man that all Bells love, idolize, and lend money to. His name is Joe Bell. He is the modern Bell, that all of us should try and pattern ourselves after. Every night he stays up to the wee hours of the night doing his extra credit work. He is the cheering section. We see him at every game, all the chess tournaments, every function, and he goes to all of his classes. He's my best friend, he's your best friend, he's the kitchen staff's best friend, and he's Fr. Reeses' best friend. He's everybodys best friend! He is involved with Praxis, the yearbook, the Cardinal, the math club, S.I.C., every team, and he likes mashed potatoes. I love him and you love him because he is the greatest student to walk on the face of this earth.

SPORTS

Varsity Baseball

Cause it's root, root, root for the home team,
if they don't win it's a shame,
for it's 1 2 3 CCS championships?

Can the Varsity Baseball team make it 3 years in a row? The truth is that it's a realistic possibility. At least according to junior pitchers Scott Mollahan and Jeff Alkire, who graciously provided information about this year's team.

The team will be well balanced, with 7 returning veterans, leaving the team strong in both pitching and hitting, and with no real weaknesses. Unfortunately, though, the team is going to have a tough time repeating, for everyone is out to get them. Serra and Mitty will undoubtably give the Bells a run for the WCAL title, as well as the CCS championship. The only question that remains is that of leadership, last year the team was lead, both, on the field and off it, by Troy Buckley. The position of team leader, now that Troy has graduated, rests squarely on the shoulders of Ed Giavanola, a 3 year starter at Shortstop. The team is very confident of its abilities, in fact as Scott put it "We believe in ourselves." Look to another successful year in Bellarmine Baseball. "Play Ball."

Junior Varsity Baseball

Two years ago Bellarmine continued in the excellence of the sports program with a well-qualified Junior Varsity baseball team. Leading the attack were junior Eric Yamamoto, and sophomore Mike Arrieta. At shortstop, freshman, Scott Mollahan provided consistent hitting, while junior Jered Wagner at centerfield was the lead off man and added speed to the team. Combined with these players was a well-rounded pitching staff, including three sophomores, Jim Fitzgerald, Pat King, and Andy "Lurch" Ianni who was the excellent reliever. In addition to Scott Mollohan were two other freshman, Jeff Alkire and David Barrera (no longer attending Bellarmine), who, even though freshman, assisted the team in a great WCAL season. This team coached by Mr. Rich Hermann, had a record of 11-4.

Last years junior varsity baseball team was no exception to the great athletics program attributed to Bellarmine College Preparatory. The team last year was said to be, "well-rounded", and anyone who saw them play would have to agree. The team's pitching corps was lead by Ian Calip, Chuck Breeden, Mark Hernandez, and Pat Crema, who were all sophomores. Also contributing to the team's success were key players, Doug O'Neil, Mike Wright, and Alan Frame. One other thing to point out is that the entire junior varsity baseball team was compiled of members of the class of 1988. The team recorded a fine record of 12-3. The team was again coached by Mr. Rich Herrmann.

This years junior varsity team looks very promising. The freshman, now sophomores, are coming back from a 14-2 overall record last season and a first place title. These sophomores hope to contribute to a successful team. The sophomore hopefuls are: Mark Podesta, Shawn Milligan, and Dominic DeCristofaro, and looking for a sequel to last years 9-0 pitching record is sophomore Paul Majors.

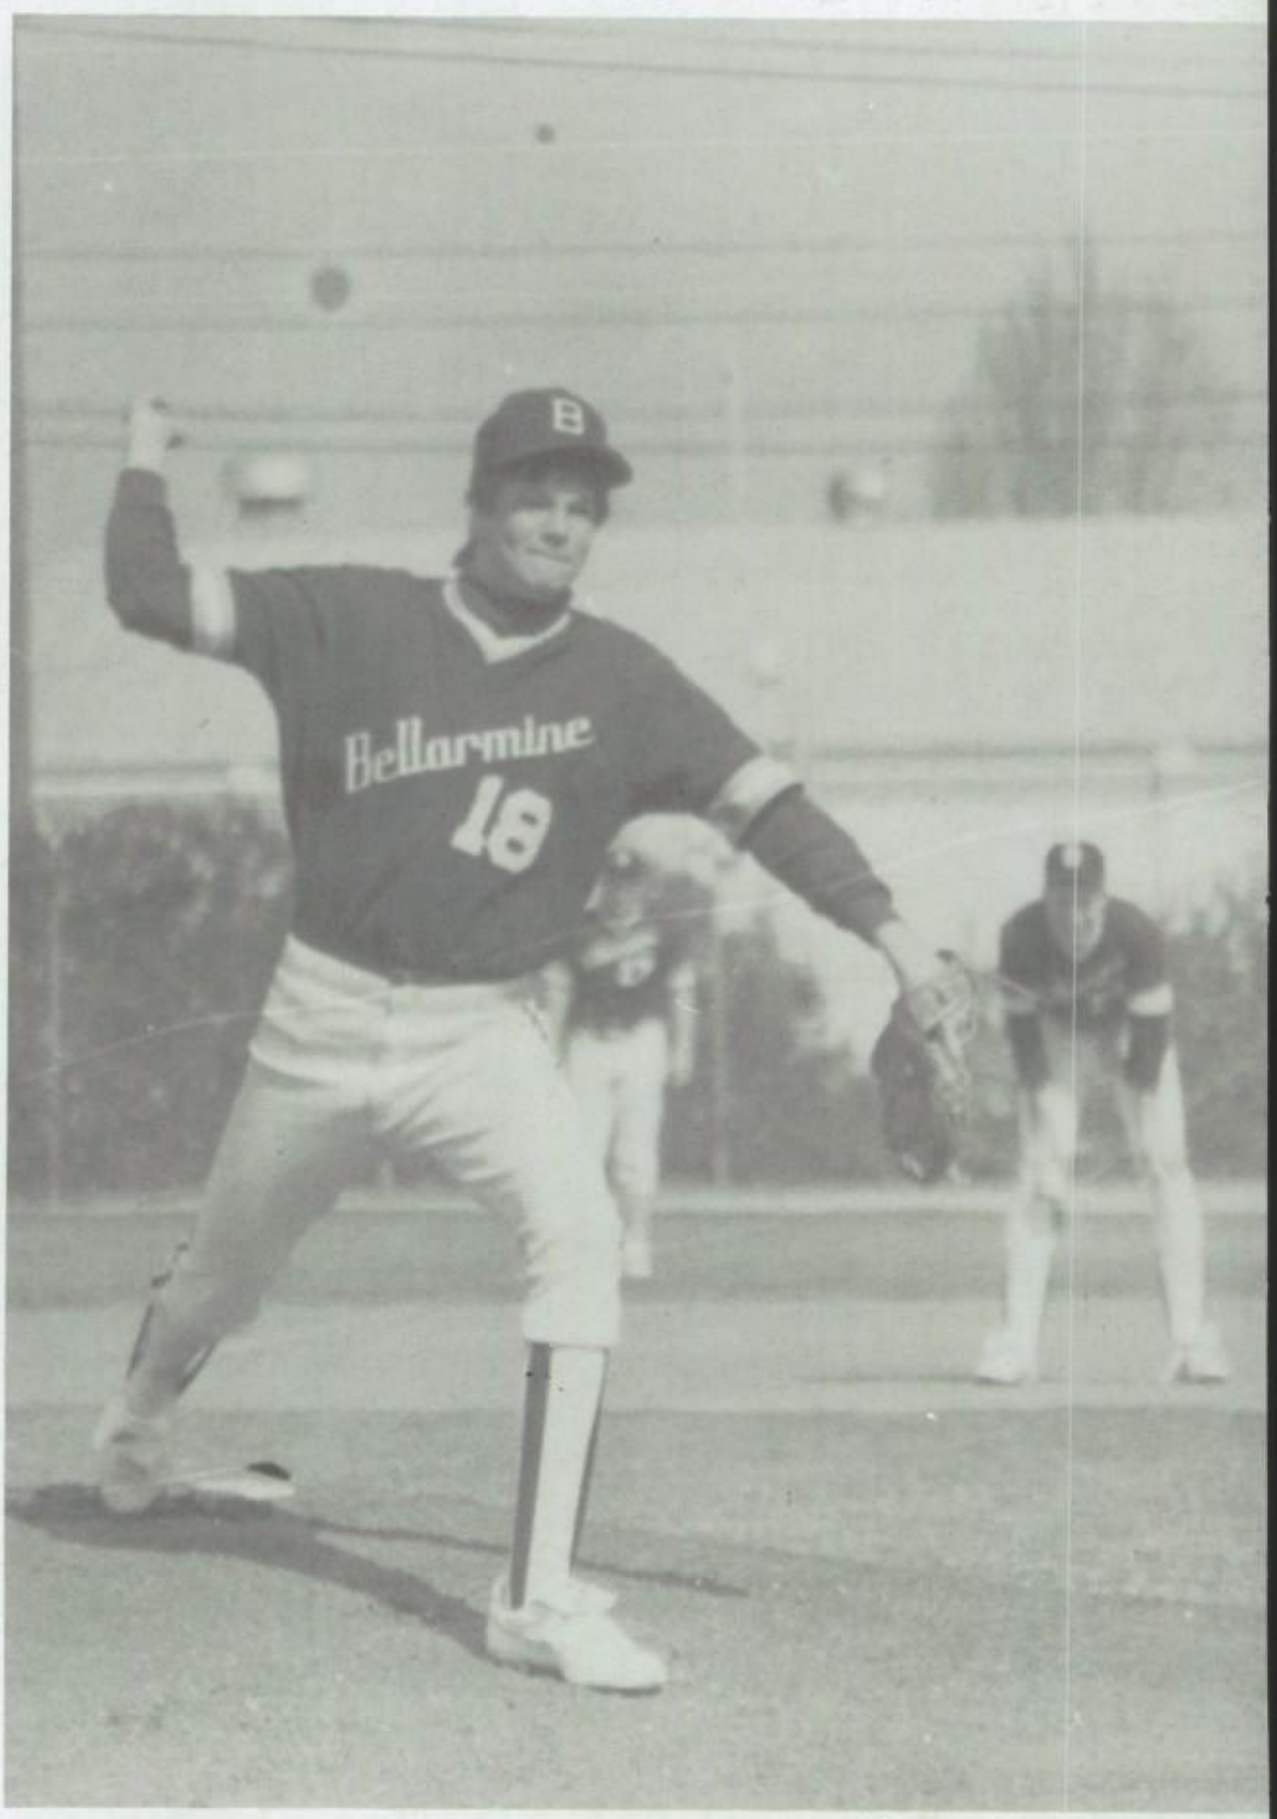
Freshman Baseball

Bellarmine has had an exceptionally talented baseball program for a number of years now. In 1985 the freshman entered WCAL competition, coached by Mr. Mike Schmitz, with a win against Riordan. The season ended and these powerful freshman finished first in the WCAL with a record of 11-3. The success of the team was due to a number of talented performers. The pitching staff was lead by Ian Calip, Jody Kirk (no longer attending Bellarmine), Mark Hernandez, Bill Towne, and John Nora (also no longer attending Bellarmine). The fielding was contributed by Mike Wright at first base, with Alan Frame and Chuck Breeden playing the field. Also contributing to the team's success were: Bill Boehner, Doug O'Neail, Steve Barrios (no longer attending Bellarmine), and Dan Cholowski. These players gave the team an outstanding offensive dimension.

In addition to the freshman players of 1985, came an even stronger sequel in 1986. This team of nineteen players coached by Mr. Tim Alcocer lead Bellarmine to a first place title in the WCAL while acquiring a 14-2 record. One of the losses coming to highly ranked Serra. Perhaps the most exciting victory for the team was when Bellarmine defeated St. Francis 10-2. Contributing to the team's success were players: Billy Owens (centerfield), Mark Podesta (first base), Shawn Milligan (left field), and Dominic DeCrisofaro (short stop). Leading the team was Paul Majors who had a record of 9 wins and no losses. This team was exceptionally strong.

And again this year, Bellarmine hopes to exhibit its excellence in baseball at the freshman level. Being coached again by a new preceptor, Mr. Spencer, the team hopes to be off to a good start.



Pitcher David Sick delivers another gem that finds its mark.

Varsity Basketball

"We'll get 'em next year." How often has this statement been made after recent Varsity Basketball seasons. Well, the 1987 Varsity squad, coached by Chris Lorenc, finally did. For the first time in many seasons the Bellarmine Basketball program presented a varsity ball club that was able to challenge, and defeat some of the best ball clubs in the bay area. In fact, for the first time in almost 10 years the Bells entered the C.C.S. semifinal playoffs. This success was attained as a result of two factors. First, the team received outstanding performances by key players. Among these contributers were big men John Sayers, Gary Silacci, and Paul Batcheller, and star guards Mike Flohr, Chris Joos and Casey Courneen. In addition to these athletes, the Bellarmine Varsity got tremendous support from the bench. Players such as Julian Ruiz, Gil Clark, Jon Honore, and Geoff Ogden proved to be key contributers in this department.

Bellarmine's success in Varsity Basketball this year is evident in their record, as well as in the team's ability to sustain their efforts in all four quarters. What Bellarmine teams have lacked in the past is this ability to sustain their intensity. The type of game that Bellarmine plays is one of constant defensive tenacity and intelligent offensive play. Rigorous spring and summer training were key factors in the team's ability to play this brand of Basketball. With continued hard work from the sophomores and juniors on this team, as well as from the junior varsity, the Bellarmine community can look forward to a continued tradition of growing strength in basketball.

Junior Varsity Basketball

The Bellarmine Junior Varsity Basketball team, under the leadership of Steve Pinkston, fought its way to a record with three games remaining in the season. As always, the Bells found themselves in competition with some of the best basketball players in the bay area. Unfortunately, the bells could not pull out some squeakers which could have gone either way. Leading this ball club were guards Greg Walker, Joey O'Brien, and Leon Clinton, plus forwards Nick Del Biaggio and Jeff Richardson. Richardson was among the W.C.A.L. leaders in scoring this season. While their record might not show it, the athletes have displayed fundamentally good Basketball throughout this trying season. Continued improvement by the members of this ball club can only add to the growth of the program in the future.

Freshman Basketball

The 1987 Bellarmine Freshman Basketball teams have displayed the type of attributes that will help the program in the future. These qualities being good solid defense, a well-balanced offensive attack, and constant stressing of the need for fundamentally sound play. With coaches Mendez, for the A's, and Saunders, for the B's, this style of play is being set in the minds of the Freshman Hoopsters.

Bellarmine's Freshman A's have worked to develop their talents so as to further benefit the program. While their record does not display overwhelming success, the most important goal of the Freshman program has been met. The players have been put into perhaps the most challenging freshman basketball league in the state, where they are being given the chance to prove themselves. Among the standouts on the squad include Destah Owens, Tim Baxter, and Mike Atkinson. Continued improvement by these players and all of the others on this ball club will most definitely prove beneficial to a rising program.

Along with the Frosh A's, the B's also have been instructed in Bellarmine's philosophy of play. One way that these athletes learn how to play Bellarmine style defense is by staying in top shape. In order to achieve this, Coach Saunders works his athletes extremely hard during their practices. Often times the B's do more running than any other team in the program. This technique has proved successful in numerous ways. First, this team has been able to sustain their efforts for victories in four out of eight contests. It also sets in the mind of these athletes the need for an unending dedication to the team by making them push themselves to the limit even at practice. Finally, by working hard consistently, these athletes realize just what sort of commitment will be neccessary for them to continue in the program. While all of the B's have taken this attitude to heart, players Mike Kenigsberg and Rob Ludeman proved themselves as definite contenders for future Bellarmine Basketball play.

Varsity Cross Country

Entering the 1986 cross country season, the Bellarmine squad proved their infallibility most tremendously. At the Lowell Invitational in Golden Gate Park, the Bellarmine team not only placed their top runners all near first place, but four individuals placed first. Juniors Ian Champeny and Torre Pena, and seniors Rob Meinhardt and Scott Robinson all tied for first place by crossing the finish line holding hands and raising them towards the heavens, showing their glory in the victory. The quartet was immediately disqualified by the Lowell High school coach. Bellarmine was handed their first loss of the season. The second loss came at the Clovis Invitational in Fresno. Casa Robles won a tie breaker in which the sixth man was scored to single out the victor. Despite the outstanding efforts of Scott Robinson (placing fourth), Rob Meinhardt (placing seventh) and Ian Champeny (placing eleventh), the main reason for this result was the virtual loss of the team's first place runner, Torre Pena, to the flu. The fourth loss come at the Crystal Springs Invitational, where junior Ian Champeny was unable to run because of an injury to his knee. However, the team had endured the worse to regroup and take control. Rob Meinhardt led the team to its seventh WCAL victory by placing first over all. And in the Region I meet the team won again, led by senior Rob Meinhardt and Scott Robinson, despite the absense of Torre Pena. This was accomplished by the outstanding performance of Kevin Vergo.

However, there is more to cross country than individual efforts. Although the three leaders Torre Pena, Rob Meinhardt, and Scott Robinson scored high for Bellarmine, the base of the team is in the four very talented juniors Chuck Ross, Ian Champeny, Kevin Vergo, and Andy Zoldack. At times when Scott Robinson would not perform to his abilities, Chuck Ross would come through. When Rob Meinhardt was hindered by illness, Andy Zoldack ran superbly. All of the seven varsity members and the excellent coaching of Terry Ward and Rich Masino has made the Beallarmine team once again the leading cross country team of the State of California.

Junior Varsity Cross Country

Junior Varsity is an ironic term at Bellarmine. Compared to most high school teams, this junior varsity team would be known as varsity. From the start of the season, this team was strong and ultimately invincible. Chris Paone, one of the leading runners of the team, placed first in this meet. Since 1978, the junior varsity team has dominated the West Catholic Athletic League to earn the title of W.C.A.L Champions. The year is no different. At Crystal Springs in Belmont, the team won their tenth straight W.C.A.L. title. Senior Jim Murphy, the leading runner of the team, showed promising results, however he was unable to continue the season. Sean Collins, Tom MacMitchell, Kevin Gomes, and John Hogan were among the leading senior runners on the junior varsity team. Juniors Joe Montanez, Brian Ward, Dave Houston, and Jim Slavin were strong in crucial meets. Making definite contributions were Jerry McCusker, Paul Demele, Joel Berghoff, Bill McGovern, Greg Ryan, John Robinson, Mike Robison, James Kim, Ben Flores, and Kevin Dwyer. Also Matt Carnahan and Jim Sarmecanic made prevelant contributions. These two runners plus John Hogan, Tom MacMitchell, and Kevin Gomes have stayed with the rigorous training of cross country for four consecutive years. It is hard to run under such an incredible varsity team, however, the junior varsity has proved the point that it is the best the W.C.A.L has ever seen. They are a determined group of talented runners who have come together to conquer all obstacles.

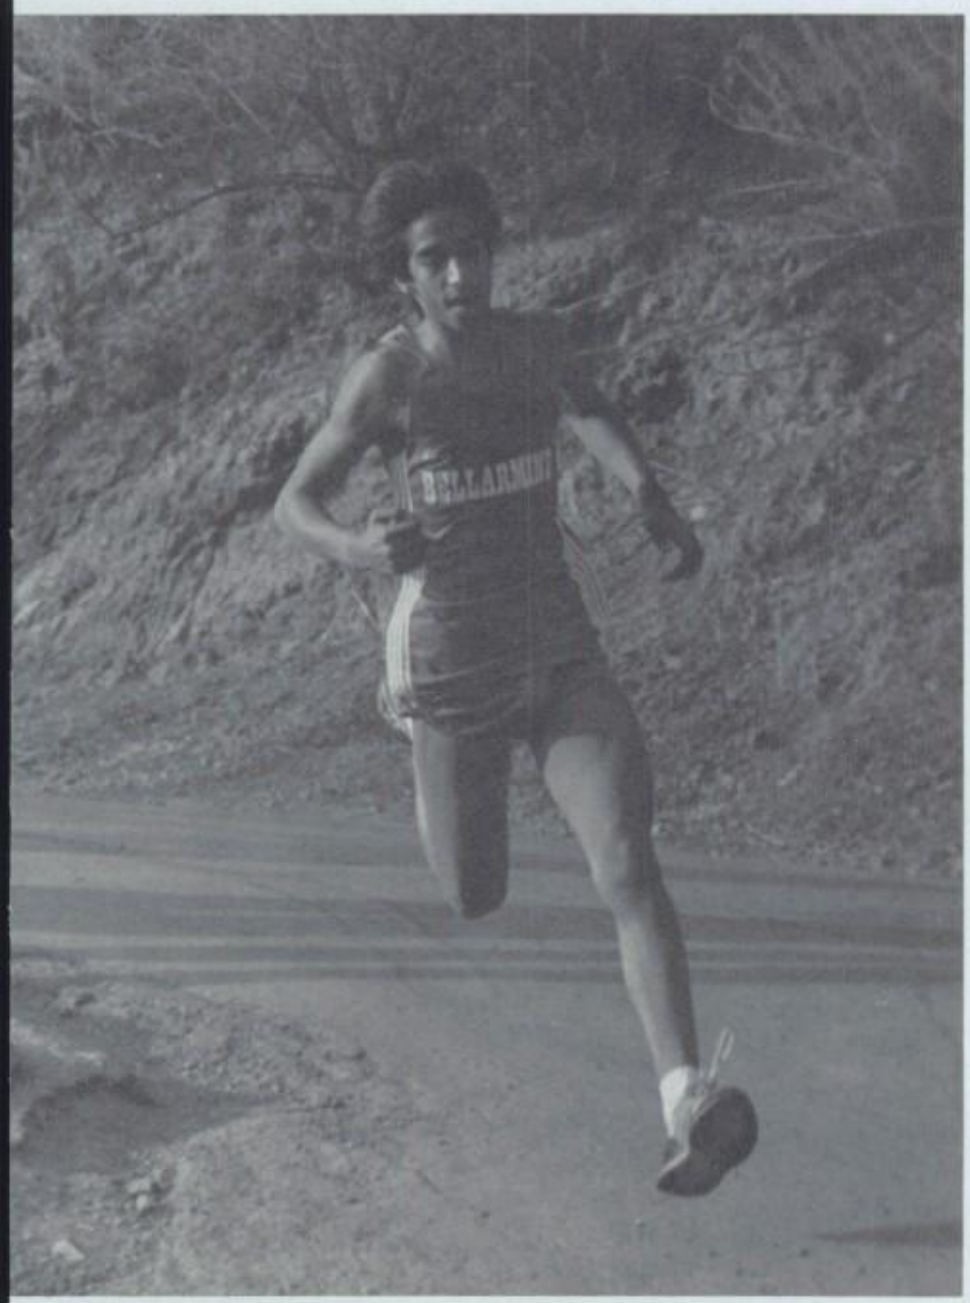
Cross Country



Although they were overshadowed by the fantastic exploits of the Varsity squad, both the Sophomore and the Freshman cross country teams built quite a reputation for themselves. Both teams dominated competition the entire season and easily conquered the WCAL schools in the league meets. firmly establishing themselves as a force to be reckoned with in CCS competition.

The Sophomores picked up where they left off last year as Freshmen, taking such prestigious meets as the Clovis Invitational and the Crystal Springs Invitational. Ed Engler once again led the team in most of the races, while Peter Fisher climaxed his drastic improvement by taking the league title when Engler moved up to Varsity. Also placing highly in most of the races were Steve Mills and Jamie Boyle, while Henry Woodley and Blaine Rogers finished their fine seasons by tying for second at league finals. Mike Graves finished a strong eighth, followed by Scott Service, a new addition to the team. John-Paul Shedoudi and Juan Plascencia also finished strongly to thrust this team on toward a bright and promising future.

Bellarmine has won the Freshman division of WCAL for almost a decade, and this years team did not break that tradition. Led by Danny Zoldak, Ronan O'Flahrety and Caneck Rubalcava, this group appears ready to continue the winning tradition at Bellarmine. Peter Dehn, E.J. Sorelli, Tim Coulter, Chris Escamilla and a number of their teammates also showed fine potential by thrashing the other teams at the finals. With the talent and youth of these two squads, Bellarmine cross country looks to have some powerful teams in the future.

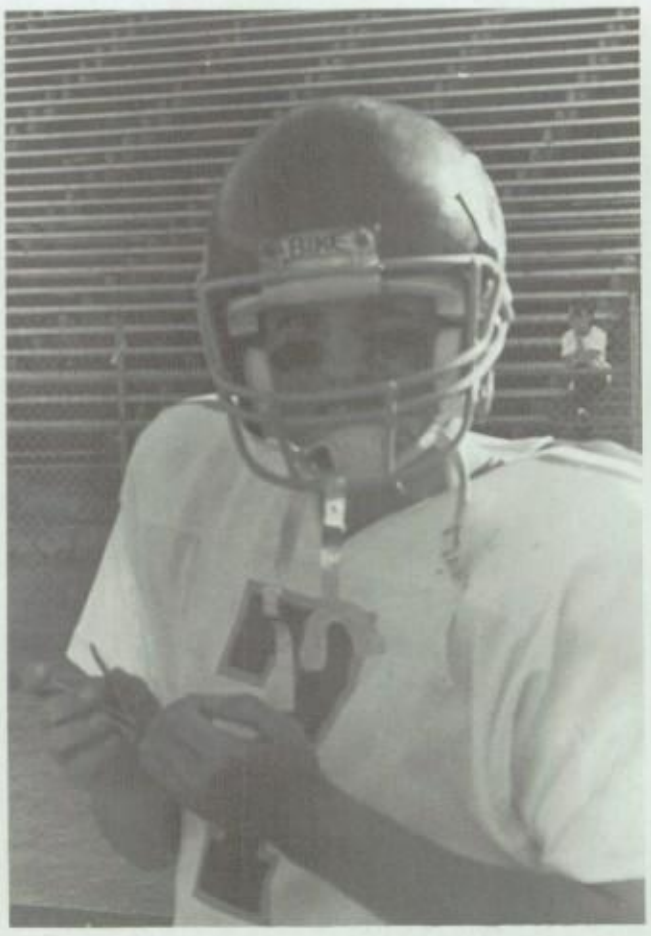
1987: The Year



This year's Varsity team, a squad composed of determination, leadership, and supurb talent was, in a word, awesome! They compiled a record of 10-2, and of course, were the C.C.S. champs beating Live Oak by one point. Throughout the entire season the Bells proved their excellence by playing incredible games. Aaron Brubaker, a senior, tremendously contributed this season with over 500 yards total offense and nine touchdowns. He was undoubtably a large part of the Bell offense. With the senior running backs Steve Massa and Matt Murphy following top 100 recruited Steve Mills and John Zilinskas, the running game gained over 800 yards in league play. Furthermore, led by QB's Mike Walker '87, Scott Mollahan '88 and Bill Owens '89, the passing game amassed nearly 600 yards.

In addition, the defense was very stingy with its allowed yards, and was a definite strong point of this year's team. Led by outstanding linebacker Pat McPherson '87, the defensive team literally crushed their opponents. Also, the men in the trenches, led by Kevin Pavack '87 and Pete Fuqua '87, held their opponents to a mere 900 yards total offense. The defensive backs, led by Chris Dean '87 foiled many scoring attempts by opponents with an incredible eighteen interceptions, ten in league play.

The Bells again proved their supremacy over other schools by winning the C.C.S. title this year, and have fulfilled the tradition of incredible football teams. With returning starters Dan Chowlowsky and Alan Frame, this tradition should continue for many years to come.

Of The Bells!

Junior Varsity Football

The Bellarmine Junior Varsity Football Team performed exceptionally well this year, thus enabling them to capture the WCAL title. From a total of nine games they successfully won 8 of them. This expected record is evidence of their skillful abilities. An example of their superiority was proven in their four consecutive shut-outs during the season. They shut out St. Francis (13-0), Mitty (7-0), Sacred Heart (7-0) and Serra (18-0). The Junior Varsity team again defeated De LaSalle, just as the JV team had in the previous year. This win made them the only Bellarmine team to defeat the tough De LaSalle team this year. The Bells are considered to be the "Power-House" of Junior Varsity Football around the valley and feared by many, if not all, of the other JV football teams in the area. Much of the credit for their success should be given to their impregnable, rock-solid defense which carried the team to the WCAL title. With their four consecutive shut-outs after their loss to Saint Ignatius, the best "D" in the league held their opponents to an average of four points per game. The team was composed of a group of talented athletes. The group standing out on the defense was Casey Courneen (free safety), Vince Gutierrez (strong safety), Ben Battaglia (corner back), Jeff Bombaci, Cary Shales, Scott Olsen and Geoff Ezgar (linebackers). Along the line were Richard Unger (nose tackle) and Jim Willis (defensive tackle). Nick Del Biaggio and Paul Majors were outstanding in their work on both offense and defense. The explosive offense, led by quarterback Shawn Milligan, scored and scored and scored . . . Dennis Namimatsu, Nick Stojanovic (tail backs) and Dominic De Cristofaro (wing back) were majestic in their movements and swift in their speed. They carried the football straight through the defenses they faced and led their team to success. Milligan's best targets were Scott Olsen (tight end), Ben Battaglia (wide receiver) and Dominic De Cristofaro (wing back). The Junior Varsity team's members are, without a doubt, destined for greatness in their Varsity years at Bellarmine.

Freshman Football

Although the Freshmen football team started off on the wrong foot this year they have great potential and capable players which will surely lead them into victory. They hold an overall record of three wins out of seven games. The Baby Bells proved their talents when they defeated Sacred Heart (14-6), Riordan (13-12), and dominated the Mitty game with a score of 21-0. The Baby Bell's offensive punch was provided by David Sick (quarter back), Chris Rebboah (tail back), David Popejoy (full back), Brad Bowers and Kevin McMahon (tight ends). Their defense was led by lineman Brad Bowers and linebackers David Popejoy and Jason Englund. Even though the Baby Bells had a disappointing year their next year in Junior Varsity should be promising.

Varsity Golf

The definition of golf by Webster's dictionary — A game in which the player uses a number of golf clubs to hit a small, white ball into a succession of holes. A revised definition by Bellarmine golfers should go as follows: 1. Few after school practices — yeah, right! No weight training unless you consider carrying a golf bag weight training. No running unless in search of a lost ball. 2. A two year undefeated streak on the Junior Varsity team had a C.C.S. campionship for the Varsity team.

The defending C.C.S. champion Varsity Golf team hopes to continue their winning tradition with coach Leo Ruth, returning senior Pat Boggini, and juniors Dennis Ventry and Chris Streibel. The team has already had success. The first two matches of the season were won with a stunning seven stroke victory over Riordan and a thirty-two stroke victory over Gunderson. When asked how the team compared to last year's team, Dennis Ventry replied: "We have better talent than last year, and with such a young team we should have a few more championship seasons ahead". The rest of the Varsity crew, which include senior Tom Donohue, juniors Pieter Capozzi, Blake Hirth and Mark Schwab, and Sophomores John Feliz and David Imahara will build a solid foundation for the Bells this year and hopefully bring back another championship trophy.

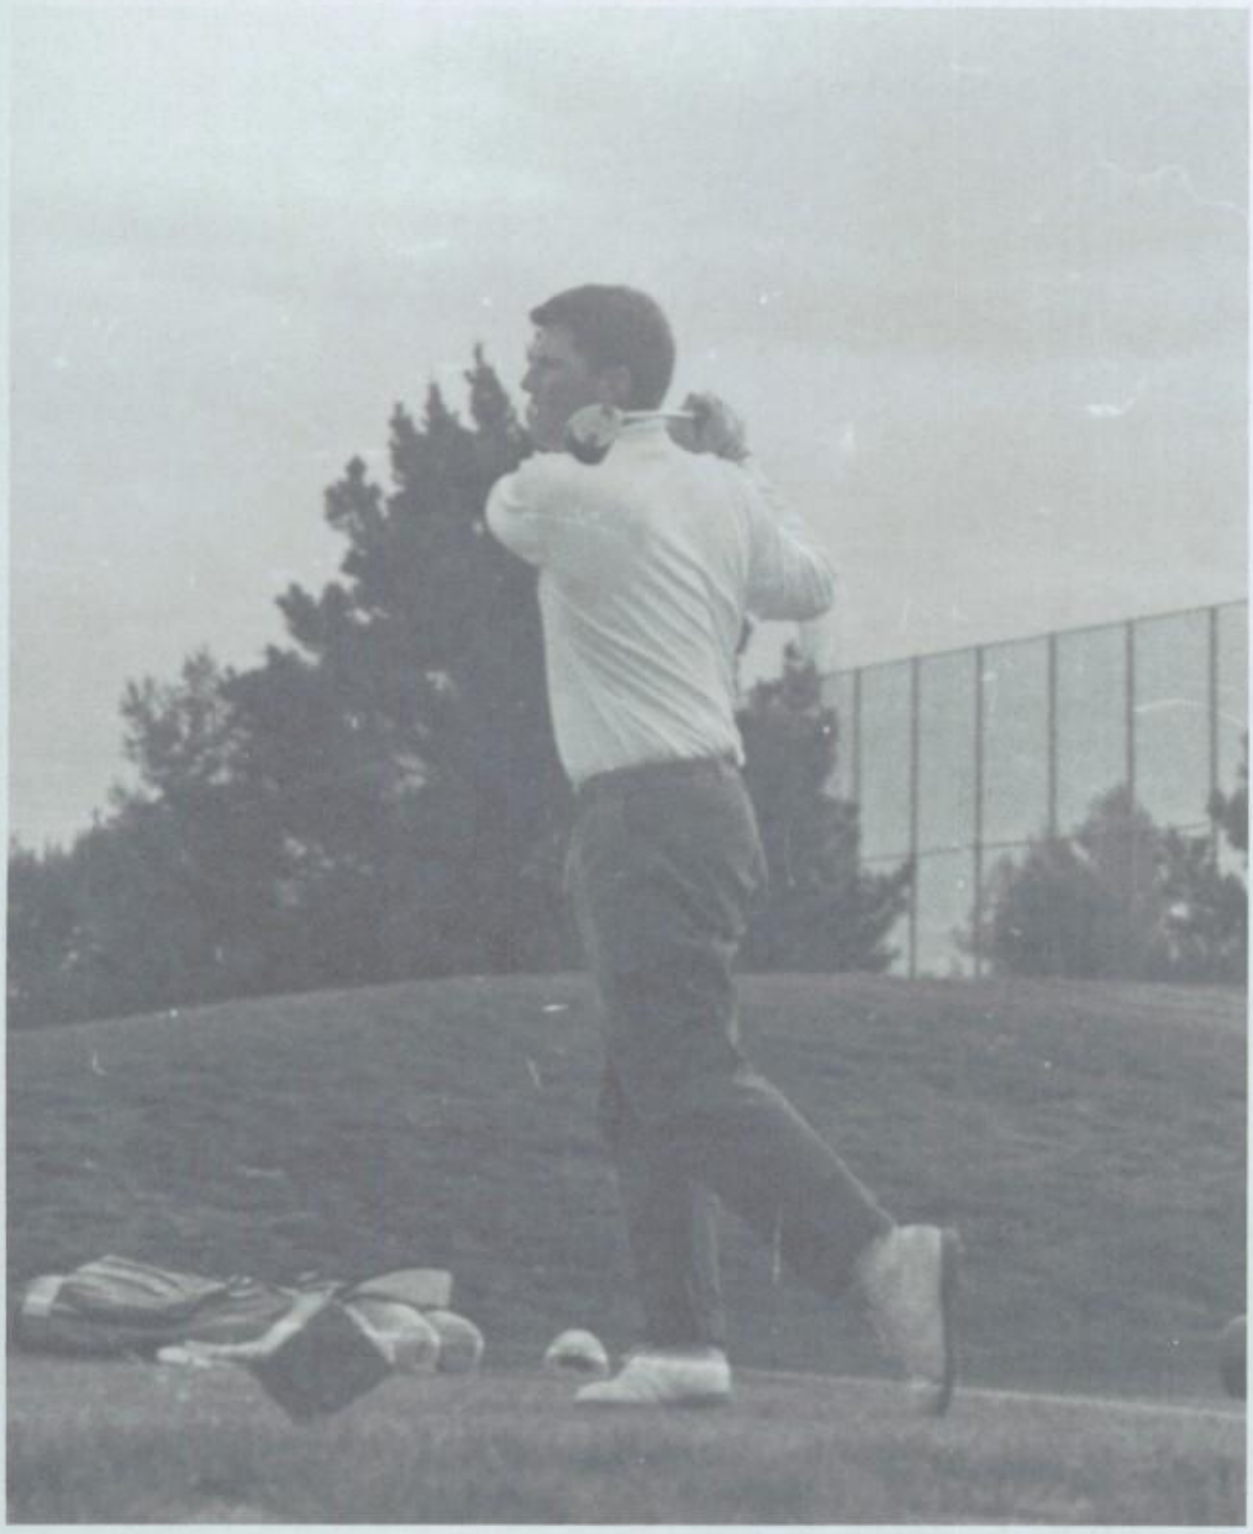
Junior Varsity Golf



This year's Junior Golf team comes into the season protecting a two year streak of undefeated seasons. More than 35 golfers tried out for the team this year. Some of the big name veterans include: Brian Blach, Pat McNeil, Ken Mobeck, Chris Sozzi, Grant Johnson, and Scott Gille. Other big names include: Tim Caslin, Chris Roche, Dan Araldi, and Matt Fitts. The team will be hoping to break their winning streak, the Bells look stronger than ever. The team expects its hardest matches from St. Francis, St. Ignatius, and Serra.

Although the team has sixteen members, only seven are allowed to play when tournaments are held at other schools. The sixteen golfers play each other before each tournament, thus deciding who are the best.

Big hitter Brian Blach ponded drives and the turf in leading the Bells to the WCAL crown.

Varsity Soccer

It was a rather slow start for the Varsity soccer team this year. As Coach Chambers stated, " Despite our record, we've been highly competitive" — at the outset against such formidable opponents as Homestead, Amador Valley, and Blackford high schools. But this is not to say that the Bellarmine team has been wholly unsuccessful; for they began the league season in tying Serra 1-1, later winning over Mitty with a score of 2-0. Then, in perhaps one of the better games of the season, they beat St. Ignatius 2-0 with goals by seniors Pat Lowney and Todd Tillmanns — after which game, they won against Sacred Heart 4-1. And in the end, the team earned a final league record of 6-3-3, with an overall record 12-9-5.

And though the team consisted of many an exceptional player (such as first team member Pat Lowney, John Kressman, and Paul Giannini as well as second team member Mike Johansen), it nevertheless suffered from the several injuries to its key players, specifically Mike Lodoen, '87, with his knee injury as well as Bill Letsinger, '87, the starting centerback. Yet regardless of these damaging setbacks, each continued to play with increased concentration, under the guidance of Coach Chambers.

The last three weeks of the season were the most memorable in Bellarmine soccer history as the Bells went on to win the W.C.A.L. Championships, sweeping St. Francis, Mitty, and Serra in the playoffs. Then the Bells reached the CCS Final Four, defeating Independence and Leland before losing to CCS runner-up Monta Vista 2-1 in overtime.

Junior Varsity Soccer

"It was a great season," said Coach Sarrett in his overview. And though initially the Junior Varsity soccer team suffered two losses, against Amador Valley and Leland, it nevertheless gained through those experiences a renewed sense of both determination and commitment to diligence in order to play its characteristically "high level of soccer."

The Bellarmine team this year was comprised of many strong players — such as sophomores Jamie Boyle and Anthony Campagna; juniors Mike Ciampa, Adam Castellanos, and Pete Amend; the leading forwards Doug Potwora and Raphael Alvarez; the half-back Henry Woodley who led the team in assists; fullbacks John Miller and Ted Ryan; as well as goalie Kyle Krpata. Despite their earlier setbacks, they, in the end, "finished the season with a 16-2 record and a 12-0 record in league." In its first game against Mitty, for example, the team won with a final score of 3-2; against St. Ignatius, 1-0; and in its second game against St. Francis, 1-0; and Riordan, 1-0. And as a result of its phenomenal success, the team deservingly won the WCAL Championship, outright.

Indeed, as Coach Sarrett said, in terms of team unity, "dedication and hard work, this group was extraordinary."

Frosh/Soph Soccer

For the Freshman soccer team, this season was an especially successful one. On October 20, practice began. Though understandably, the hours were very long, the team persevered with aspiring determination and eagerness — "always ready to go." And so under the guidance of Mr. Steve Artiga, "a great coach" — one member commented, the team with its many outstanding players including the captains, Rob McGovern and Lance Nakamitsu, goalie David Kramer, and fullbacks Brent Garcia and A.J. Robinson were led to many exciting, decisive victories.

Against St. Ignatius, for example, the team won with a score of 3-0; against Riordan, 11-0; and Mitty, 3-0. Yet to Coach Artiga, perhaps the most memorable game was the one in which Bellarmine faced St. Francis. All "rose to the occasion," he said, "they really played their best." And with a score of 3-2, it was indeed "a great all-around team victory." Then, again against St. Ignatius, the team won 1-0; and against Serra High School, 6-0. And finally, as the culmination of their hard work, skill, and their command of the fundamentals, the team was awarded the WCAL championship, finishing the season with an astounding record of thirteen wins, one loss, and one tie.

Yet in the end, the most important factor to their success was, as Coach Artiga perceived, the "togetherness of the group." They "learned what it takes to be on a team — what it takes to be on a Bellarmine team." For in friendship, they supported and encouraged one another both on and off the field.

To be sure, "their prospects are great, terrific . . . they are quality players, quality people — Mr. Chambers should be happy."

Varsity Tennis

Bells Comin' Out Aces

The 1987 Bellarmine Varsity tennis team carried out another successful season of Bellarmine tennis. The team managed to produce another perfect record to match last year's season. Along with this perfect record came the second consecutive CCS title and WCAL championships.

The team was led by sophomore Robbie Wendell and he was followed by senior Dave Lu. Juniors Zach Reid, Tim Connolly, and Hunter Dunn rounded out the singles category. The teams of Tom MacMitchell and Matt Quinlan, Paul Brown and Chris Wojslaw, and Royce Suba and Mike Robison. All three teams contributed to the overall success of the team. It must be known that senior Sam Liccardo remained strong reserve and helped the Bells in singles play.

Thanks to Chris Dempsey for a fine job of coaching. The Bells look forward to another strong season with nine returning players from this season. Do not be suprised if the team captures an amazing three consecutive CCS titles.

This year's Junior Varsity Tennis team promises to be a "strong, good, solid" one, in the words of Coach Saunders, through the participation of its fourteen players: Roy Anderson, Gordon Bell, Kelly Bridges, Songhoo Choi, John DuBois, Martin Esteverena, Sean Hehir, Ken Lee, Kevin Lo, Mike Lu, John Mungai, Dan O'Brien, Scott Polhemus, and Greg Wolkstein. Having already played two matches (against Leland and Gunn), the JV team will still compete in ineteen matches against such formidable opponents as St. Francis — matches which now are rendered all the more important, as this is the first season in which Junior Varsity tennis has been considered a team sport in the WCAL. Coach Saunders certainly expects the team to perform fairly well, as it has in the past. And, what is more, in the process, both Mr. Saunders and assistant coach Joshua Michaels will not only guide the team towards realizing success, but will also "help build" in the players that characteristically supportive Bellarmine team spirit and philosophy.

Varsity Track

The three sophomores leading the way in sprinting events were: Leon Clinton, J.P. Heinrick, and Nick Stojanovic. Seniors Frank Alvarez, Jason Van Benthuysen, Mitch Dougherty, and junior Jim Caputo contributed in pole vault. In the long and triple jumps senior Scott Gephart, junior Jasiri Powell, and sophomores Ken Juni and Mike Miles played major roles. High jump was led by sophomores Dave Svec and Dan Dalzochio. Seniors Nick White and Matt Howard and juniors Joel Berghoff and Steve Flores made up the discus and shotput throwing crew. The hurdlers this year were seniors Mike Stonehocker and Matt Carnahan, and juniors Dave De Baldo and Jim Hinckley. The 400 and the 800 were run by seniors Scott Robinson and Ed Avila, juniors John McClenahan, Scott Reimert and Jim Robinson, and sophomore Marc Ashton. The one and two mile runs were led by seniors Ross Robinson and Rob Meinhardt and juniors Torre Pena, Andy Zoldack, Kevin Vergho, Ian Champeny, and Bryan Ward. In terms of expectations for the team, Coach Ward said; "We must do as well as we can in each dual meet and then in the league finals". He also mentioned the possibof a league title and a top three spot in the C.C.S.

The key element in this year's Bellarmine Varsity Track team was youth. Only very few members of the team are seniors, with the rest being sophomores and juniors. Last year's team, "the greatest in the schools history", as stated Head Coach Terry Ward, was dominated by seniors, who have since graduated, leaving the current team lacking in experience. However, the great promise shown by the team after easily winning its first meet had eliminated any doubts.

The Bells should be competitive in the tough W.C.A.L., where all competing teams are quite equal. With the great talent of this year's team, the mighty Bells should compete with energy and vigor.

Frosh/Soph Track

Running, Jumping, And Hurdling For Success

The Sophomore and Freshman team shows a lot of talents that will some day aid the Varsity team to a WCAL Championship. There are many leading individuals on this years track team. The distance events were covered by Peter Fisher, Mike Graves, Marc Liebermann, Steve Mills, Juan Plascencia, Blain Rogers, Henry Woodley, and Tim Coulter. In the middle distance events Marc Ashton, Ed Engler, Brad Kumagai, Greg Walker, Matt Lubick, and Chris Moschella proved to have exceptional talent. Freshman team members Brad Bowers, Kevin McMahon, and Dave Popjoy all successfully contributed to the shot put and discuss events. The pole vault event was lifted to new heights by sophomores Chuck Batchelder and Steve Rebozzi. Finnally, hurdlers Tim Choy, Gab Li, Tom Noble, Jim Pak, and Tim Baxter jumped their way into being the best hurdlers on the squad.

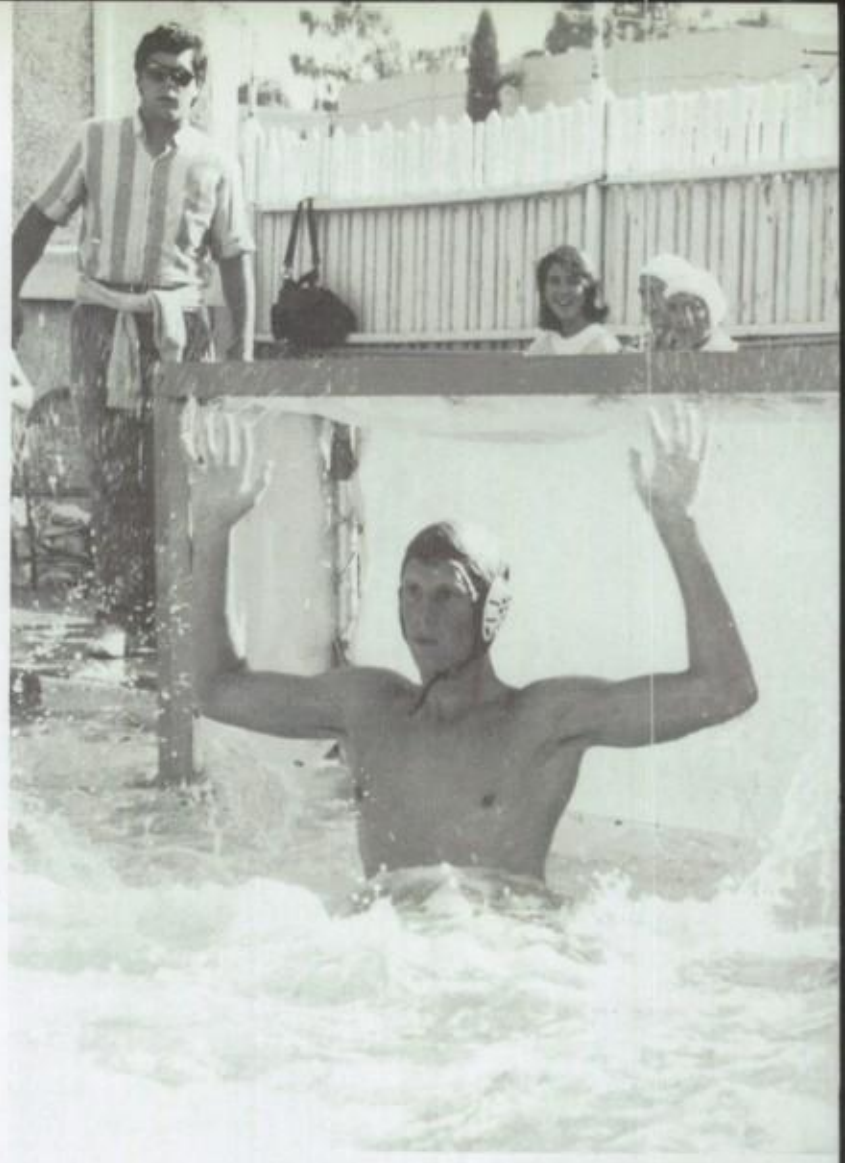
Varsity Water Polo



"Drive! Counter! Throw Weak! Work!" These words, exclaimed by water polo coach Larry Rogers, reflect a tone of intensity that only water polo players can fully comprehend. These twenty-one hard-working athletes worked intensely this season and their efforts paid off during the tournaments they attended. Among these tournaments were the Westside Tournament, the Cal-State Tournament and, of course, the C.C.S. tournament. During the Cal-State tournament the Bells triumphed over the second ranked team in the state and finished fourth in this tournament.

Defense was the key to the Bells' success this year. By constantly pressuring their opposing teams the Bells were able to keep them off guard and almost always triumph. Certain players stood out on this defensively oriented team. Seniors John Lupien, Collin Connolly, and Felipe Riviera provided the leadership and experience needed in order for this team to do well. Also instrumental in the team's success were juniors Luis Nicolao and J.T. Matarangas. In addition to the sixteen juniors and seniors, five talented sophomores emerged as major contributors to the varsity team.

Water Polo

Freshman And Sophomore

The Frosh-Soph water polo team had another fine season in the pool. Starting out strong and sustaining their efforts led the Baby Bells to a excellent record. Heading this group of talented young men were sophomores Eric Bondi, Shane Eli, and Mark Nishimura. Also exhibiting their adroitness in the water were freshmen Justin Cronin and Geoff Giacomini.

The success of this team, according to coach Brent McKim was determined by the team's ability to counter-attack position. Although the Bells were able to work this facet of play effectively throughout most of the season, they had problems with it during their battles with rival Harbor. The matches between the Baby Bells and Harbor proved to be the most exiting and hard fought battles for McKim's team.

Overall, the Baby Bells have continued the tradition of excellence in Bellarmine Water Polo. These athletes are sure to figure in the future success of the Bellarmine Water Polo program.

Bellarmine

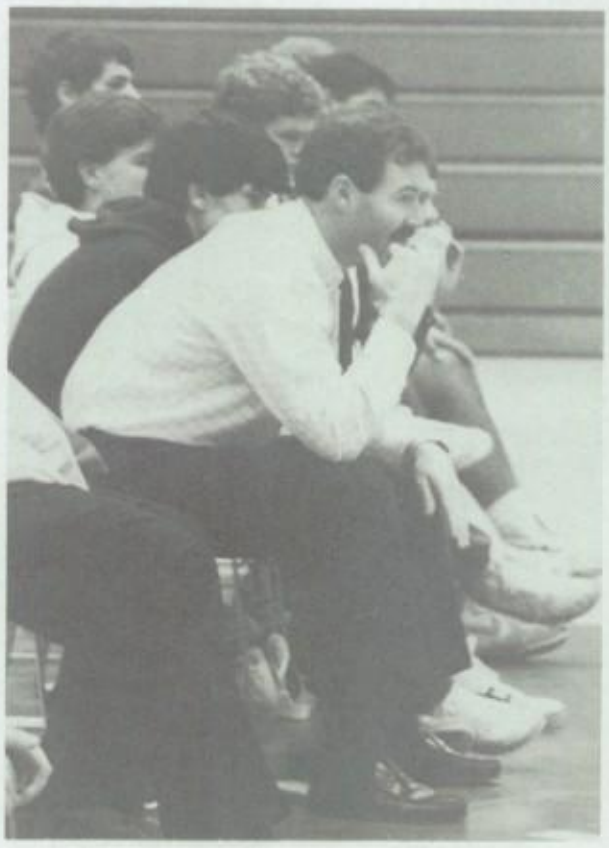
Below: Coach Kerr is intrigued with wrestling.



If there was one word to describe the seniors on the wrestling team, that word would be "courageous". It takes guts to struggle to the top and stay there. The competition is fierce, but the team stands it every day. Whether it be in the prison camp the team calls practice, or out on the mat against another school, the seniors meet the challange under the direction of team captain Dan Maruyama and Head Coach Tim Kerr. When one senior asked what it was like to be a wrestler, he replied, "You have to give your heart, and then a little more."

Wrestling

This year's Juniors have had an enormously successful year considering this is their second year. Brian Waser at 115 pounds has a record of 10-8-2, and is undefeated in league meets with only one tie. Jason Trinchero, another excellent wrestler, in the 134 pound weight class, has done well in tournaments and dual meets. Steve Flores who wrestles Junior Varsity, has done well in dual meets. Other outstanding wrestlers are Jeff Mer (115), Paul Heningsen (121), Rich Proulx (140), Marc Caputo (140), and Scott McGinty (167).

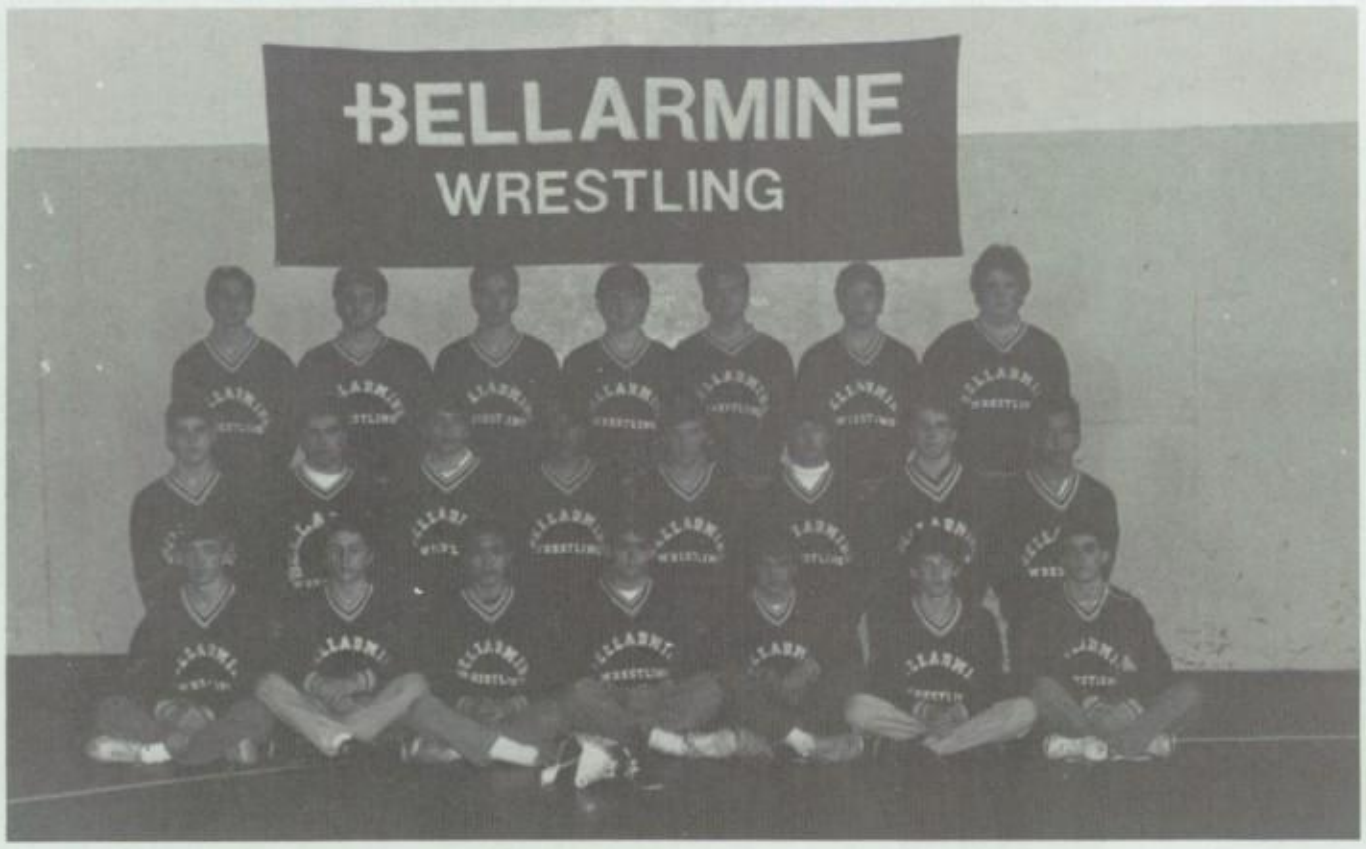
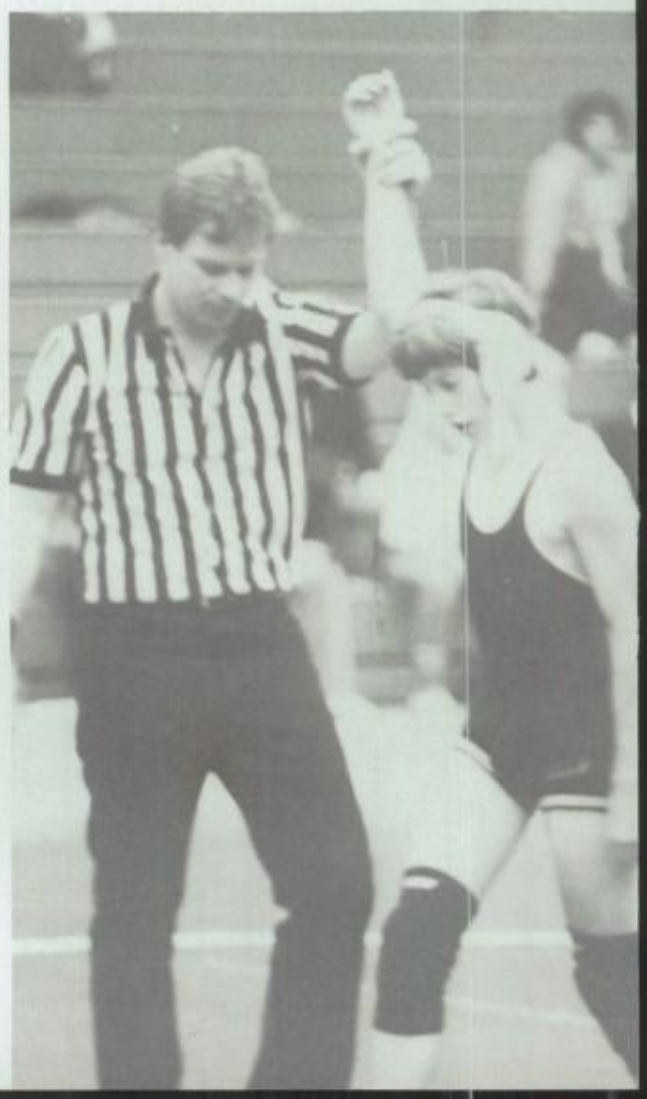
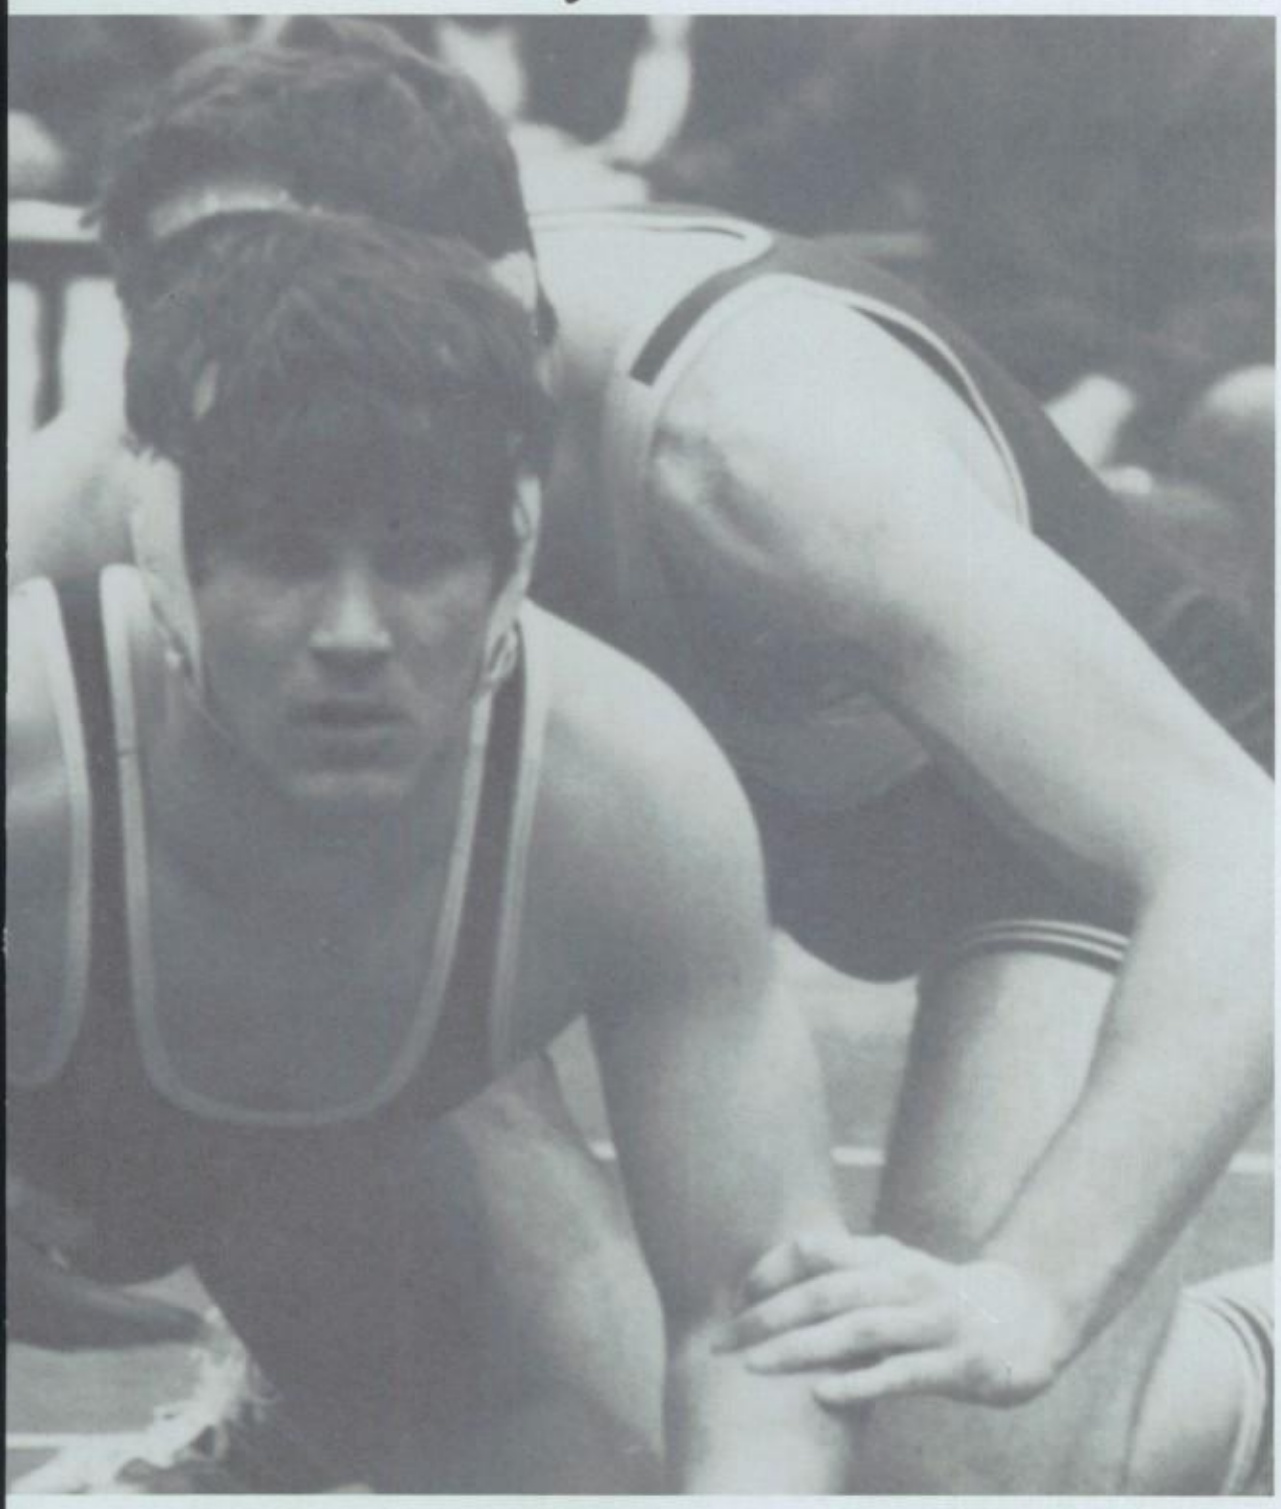
Sophomore wrestlers are very powerful this year. At 107 pounds, Doug Boren wrestled at the Varsity level for the entire year, and shows some promising talent for the future. Brian McDonald is also a good prospect for the future, wrestling at 154. Next year he will be a strong candidate for a CCS placement. At the heavyweight level there is Kit Gerrett who wrestles Junior Varsity and has good technique. Basically, all those who participate in Sophomore wrestling promise a good future for years to come. To name some hopefuls for successful futures are J.P. Sedudie (121), Tony Hale (120), John Berin (134), Paul Hatasky (140), and Brian Watts (177).





Wrestling



Freshmen wrestlers have something to be proud of: they have a representative of their class wrestling at the varsity level! David Popejoy is the number one wrestler from the class of 1990. In addition to this outstanding wrestler, the Bells can boast of an excellent freshman line-up this year. "The lads," as they are referred to by Head Coach Tim Kerr, are a high spirited bunch with a promising future. When asked about the Freshman squad, Mr. Kerr described them as a "squad with potential." He further replied, "In a couple of years, they will be a force to be reckoned with."

Senioritis

About the second week of January, a few of you observant juniors and lowerclassmen may have noticed some changes in some of your soon to be graduating friends. These changes are due to a strange neurological disorder that hits in the twelfth year of schooling. This disorder is known outside of medical circles as senioritis. Senioritis stifles most every fourth year high school student, but the Bellarmine Medical Consortium, will give you a definition, symptoms, and treatment for the afflicted student of senioritis in layman's terms.

Definition: Senioritis is a temporary, or in the case of swimmers, chronic, condition marked by a feeling of apathy towards scholastic endeavors. It has yet to be determined if senioritis is brought on by genetic mutations or environmental stimuli.

Symptoms & Signs: Although no traditional symptoms such as fever, nausea, or headaches are known to exist, senioritis displays many unique characteristics, some of them are:

1). drowsiness-as a result of increased involvement in social gatherings. Drowsiness is directly proportional to the number of social functions attended.

2). "Ferris Beuller Syndrome"-mind-generated illnesses created as an excuse not to attend school. Interestingly, these psychological illnesses only occur on days over 80°.

3). One of the last visible symptoms of senioritis is caused by an anxiety known as DeAnza-phobia. This is a fear that the student might attend an unwanted college. It is characterized by consistent checking of the mailbox to see "if my acceptance letter from San Jose State has come yet."

The following are a few of the symptoms of senioritis which are observable in all cases: an increase in procrastination, living out of one's car, and not using a locker. However these are not prevalent in all cases.

Treatment: The question is still up in the air on how to cure senioritis. The best theory now is to let students graduate at the end of their junior year. However, some means of lessening the effects of senioritis on students do exist. The two best are:

1) Multiple free periods. No more than three classes should be taken by any senior on any given day. Taking any more could seriously jeapordize one's sanity.
2) Frequent visitations to the Santa Cruz Rehabilitation Center for the Scholastically Disenchanted. The serenity of cool ocean breezes and a top-notch, bikini-clad staff makes this one of the best of its kind in the world.

The above treatment should be taken along with making up sleep that was lost during the first semester.

Mr. Quihuis, S.J. is one of the new Jesuits living in the Jesuit House here at Bellarmine. He grew up in Phoenix, Arizona and he went to college at Arizona State, where hs majored in financial economics. After that he obtained his graduate degree in economics. When he graduated from college he became the special assistant to the speaker of the House of Representatives of Arizona. Some of his duties included doing all of the research for new legislation, the coordinating of proposed legislation through the legislative committee process, and administrating a budget of one hundred and eighteen million dollars.

When asked the question as to why he decided to become a Jesuit he answered, "From the most profound sense my vocation goes back to grade school, and during my work years it became more evident the reason to become a Jesuit. While I was working with other Jesuits in the past, in various assignments in the legislature, I admired the freedom and the variety of activities that they were involved in."

Dr. Rena Schleimer joins the Bellarmine staff this year as one of many new teachers. She was born and raised in Los Angeles. After high school she attended UCLA and earned a masters degree in philosophy and a B.A. in mathematics. In the June of 1967 she married her husband. After her marriage, she and her husband moved to Wisconsin, where she earned a doctorate in philosophy. When her stay in Wisconsin was over she then moved to Massachusetts, where she lived for three years. Dr. Schleimer then went on and taught English-speaking Rhodesian and South African students in Israel for two years. After that she moved to North Carolina and taught math and computers for six years at a private school adjacent to Duke University. Three years ago she moved back to California and now is presently residing in Los Gatos. She then enrolled in the masters program at San Jose State State, studying computer science. Her last teaching job was at Fremont High in Sunnyvale. She was planning to teach there this year but three days before the first day of school, Fr. Reese hired her. She says that she prefers private schools because she knows that the students want to learn.

Fr. Ralph Drendel, S.J. is one of the many new Jesuits here on campus. He has been a Jesuit for a great many years. He is now presently teaching Computer Usage to freshmen. Many freshman say that they thoroughly enjoy his class.

Mr. John Suggs, S.J. is one of the new Jesuits on campus this year. He was born in Riverside, California. After high school, he went off to college at Loyola Marymount University, where he majored in Political Science. When he graduated from the University, he entered the Society of Jesus. This is his first year of his regency, which is a three year training period in which Jesuits teach and study on their way to becoming Jesuits.

To an Athelete Dying Young

The time you won your town the race
We chaired you through the marketplace;
Man and boy stood cheering by,
And home
we brought you shoulder high.

Today, the road all runners come,
Shoulder-high we bring you home,
And set you at your threshold down,
Townsman of a stiller town.

Smart lad, to slip betimes away
From fields where glory does not stay,
And early though the laurel grows
It withers quicker than the rose.

Eyes the shady night has shut
Cannot see the record cut,
And silence sounds no worse than cheers
After earth has stopped the ears:

Now you will not swell the rout
Of lads that wore their honors out,
Runners whom renown outran
And the name died before the man.

So set, before its echoes fade,
The fleet foot on the sill of shade,
And hold to the low lintel up
The still-defended challenge-cup.

And round that early-laureled head
Will flock to gaze the strengthless dead,
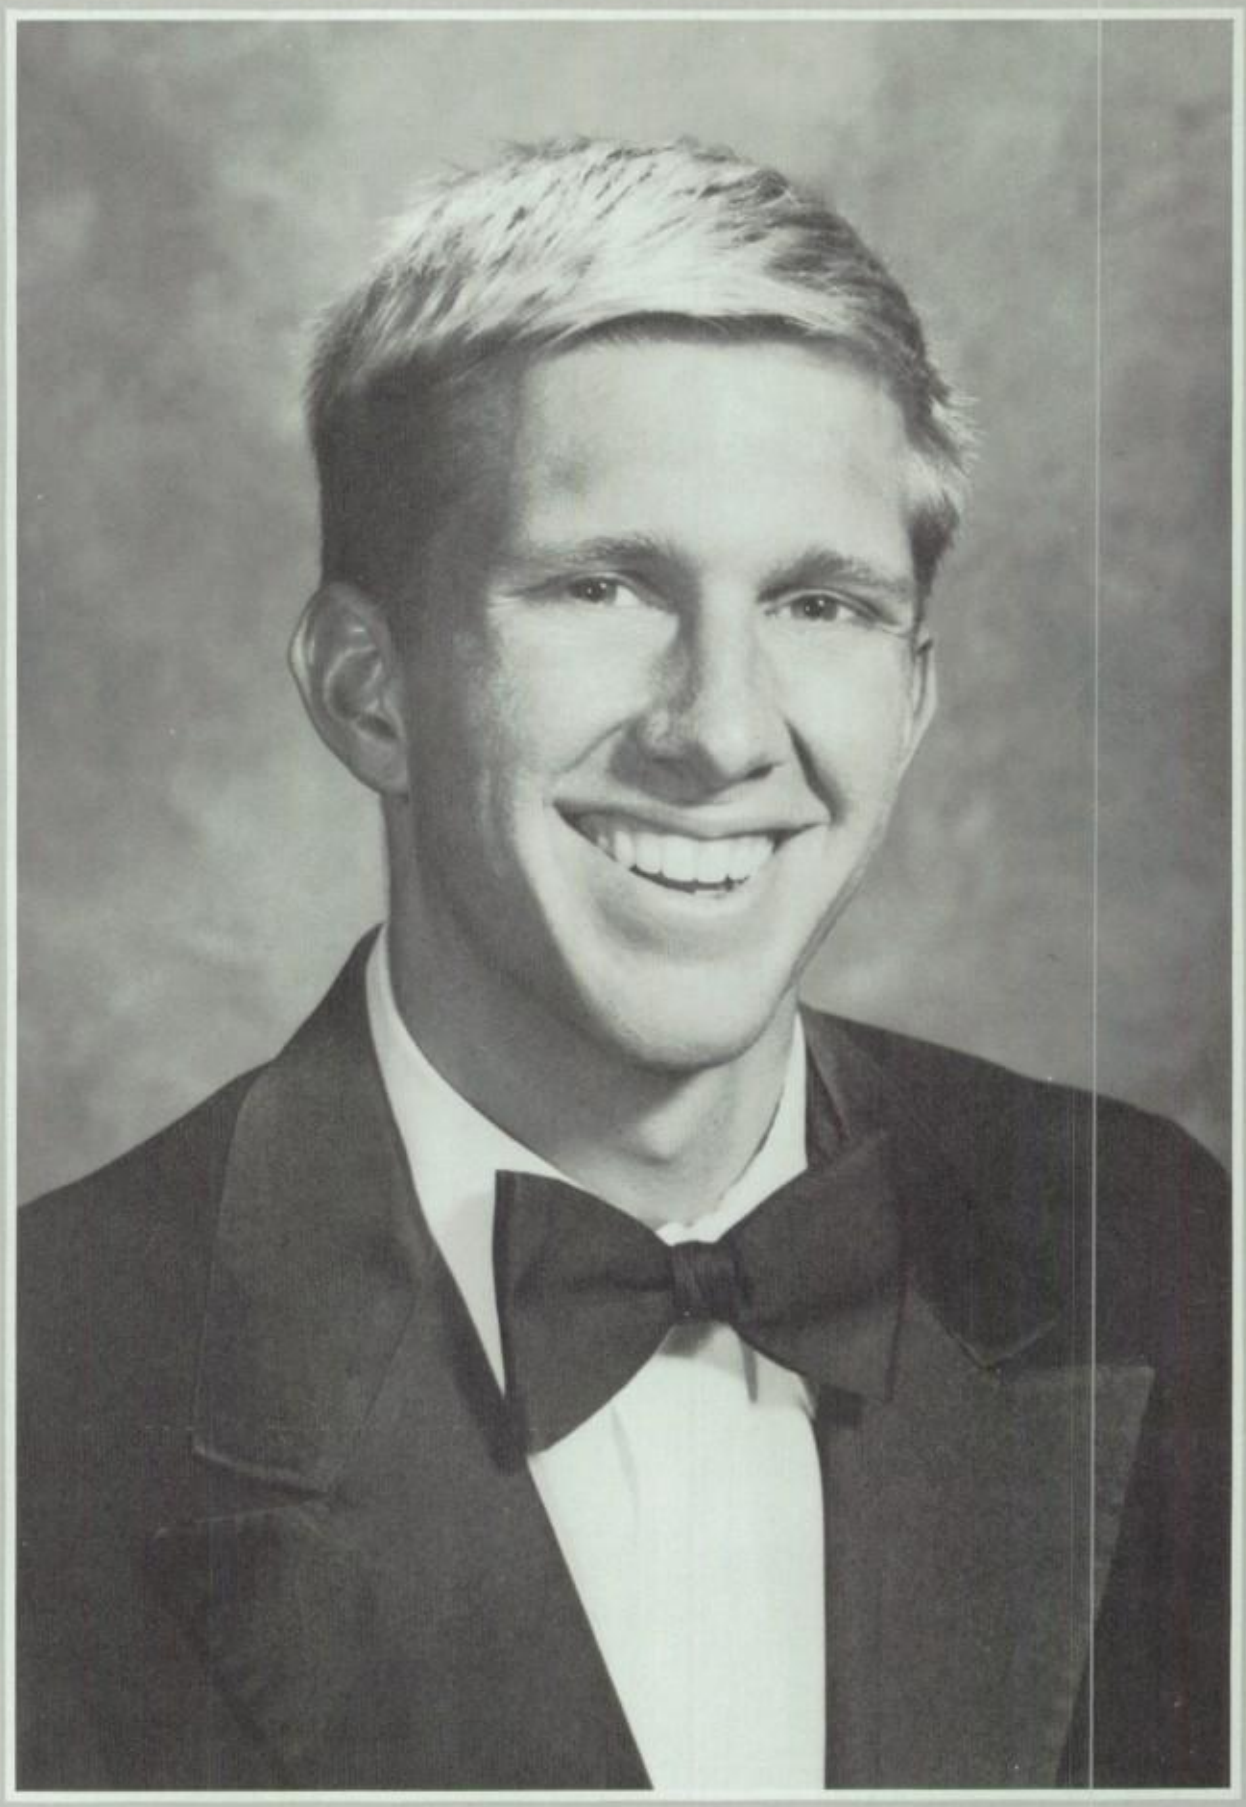
And find unwithered on its curls
The garland briefer than a girls.

-A.E. Housman



Colin Connolly

March 3, 1969 - January 19, 1987

Along with its great achievements, the 1986-1987 school year also brought great sorrow. On the morning of January nineteenth, 1987, Colin Connolly, a member of the class of 1987, died as the result of injuries received in a automobile accident.

Colin was a man of many talents. First, he was an excellent athlete, who played for Bellarmines Varsity Water Polo team since his Sophomore year. Along with being an integral part of the CCS titles that the Bells have won, and along with being a co-recipient of the teams most valuable player award, Colin was nominated to the nations High School All-American Team. In addition, Colin was an outstanding student academically. He maintained a B+ cumulative average, taking many advanced classes such as Calculus and Physics.

Yet above all, Colin was a caring, warm individual. He was well liked, and had many friends. His drive to be the best was an inspiration to us all. He will be remembered forever.

One Final Note . . .

The past school year has been eventful, to say the least. Together, the Bellarmine community has laughed, cried, rejoiced, and partyed enough to last a lifetime. During the course of this year, the inhabitants of the last room on the 500 wing were dilligently collecting and saving these memories. What you hold before you is the fruit of their labor- the 1986-1987 Carillon. As Editor of this masterpiece, it is my pleasure to acknowledge and thank the yearbook staff for their dedication and service.

This year, the staff was organized with a different approach. Instead of general Layout editors, the book was divided into sections, with five talented editors completing a respective section. This had the overall effect of better organization, a more uniform theme, and most importantly, less stress for yours truly!

The two senior section editors were fellow thespians Jeremy Eknoian and David Cohen. Jeremy, the Student Life Editor, illustrated the social aspects of Bellarmine with a golden touch, while David successfully tackled Bellarmine's favorite pastimes as Sports Editor.

Moving down a grade, the three remaining section editors were Juniors Mark Buchanan, Anthony Malutta, and Brian Stenhouse. Mark, that crazy LOCO, was the Juniors and Freshmen section editor; Anthony (another famous LOCO) handled Academics, ads, and index; Brian, Mr. Cocky himself, was the benevolent dictator of the Seniors and Sophomores sections.

In other fields of expertice, five editors applied their special skill. First, locked in the deep, black darkroom was the mysterious Alex Makarewycz, who was a man of action not words. Assisting him was Michael King, Assistant Photo Editor. (of course!) These two helped create the heart of the book, for a yearbook is nothing without pictures. Next, the role of Copy Editor was filled by our resident Jimmy Page, Brendan Bevensee. Aiding him was Assistant Copy Editor Tom Csicsman. Together this dynamic duo spent hours typing and finalizing all of the copy for the entire book. In the world of business, our inside man was Business Editor Jason Convento who, by using whatever means necessary, raised sufficient funds to produce this book. All of these editors receive a standing ovation from me for a job well done.

Yet the praise does not end there . . . There was a cast of thousands that served on the yearbook staff, each contributing to the overall project. (Well, maybe no 1000, but at least 50.) Out of those multitude, there are a few that deserve special recognition. First, copy writers Joe Wilson and Andrew Turner gain praise for their flowing prose-,which was always music to the ears. Also, ace photographer Jeff Inouye showed genuine devotion by attending countless sports events and capturing the moment on film. In the Art Department, Carey Chico did an amazing job on the endsheet design. Also, John Stephens was both a great help and a spirit booster around the sometimes dismal yearbook office. Finally, Alejandro Malespin earns a cigar for compiling the entire index.

Behind the scenes of the whole staff was everybody's favorite Spanish teacher, "Donia" Sonia Serrania. As moderator, she kept everybody motivated and generally happy to work. Without her support on "Detline Day," we would have never finished the book.

Last, but certainly not least, I would like to thank my mom and dad. Their love and support through all of the hectic rushing of this past year has kept me from going completely insane. They are the two greatest people in the world, and I am very proud to be their son.

In conclusion, I am proud to have served on the yearbook staff this past year. When the class of 1987 has graduated and has gone their separate ways, the only physical reminder of their high school experience will be their yearbook. It is a special book, one that will allow us to recall all of the memories of this awesome year. I feel that the 1986-1987 Carillon is an accurate recording of these treasured moments, and this makes me proud to be part of the staff that produced it.

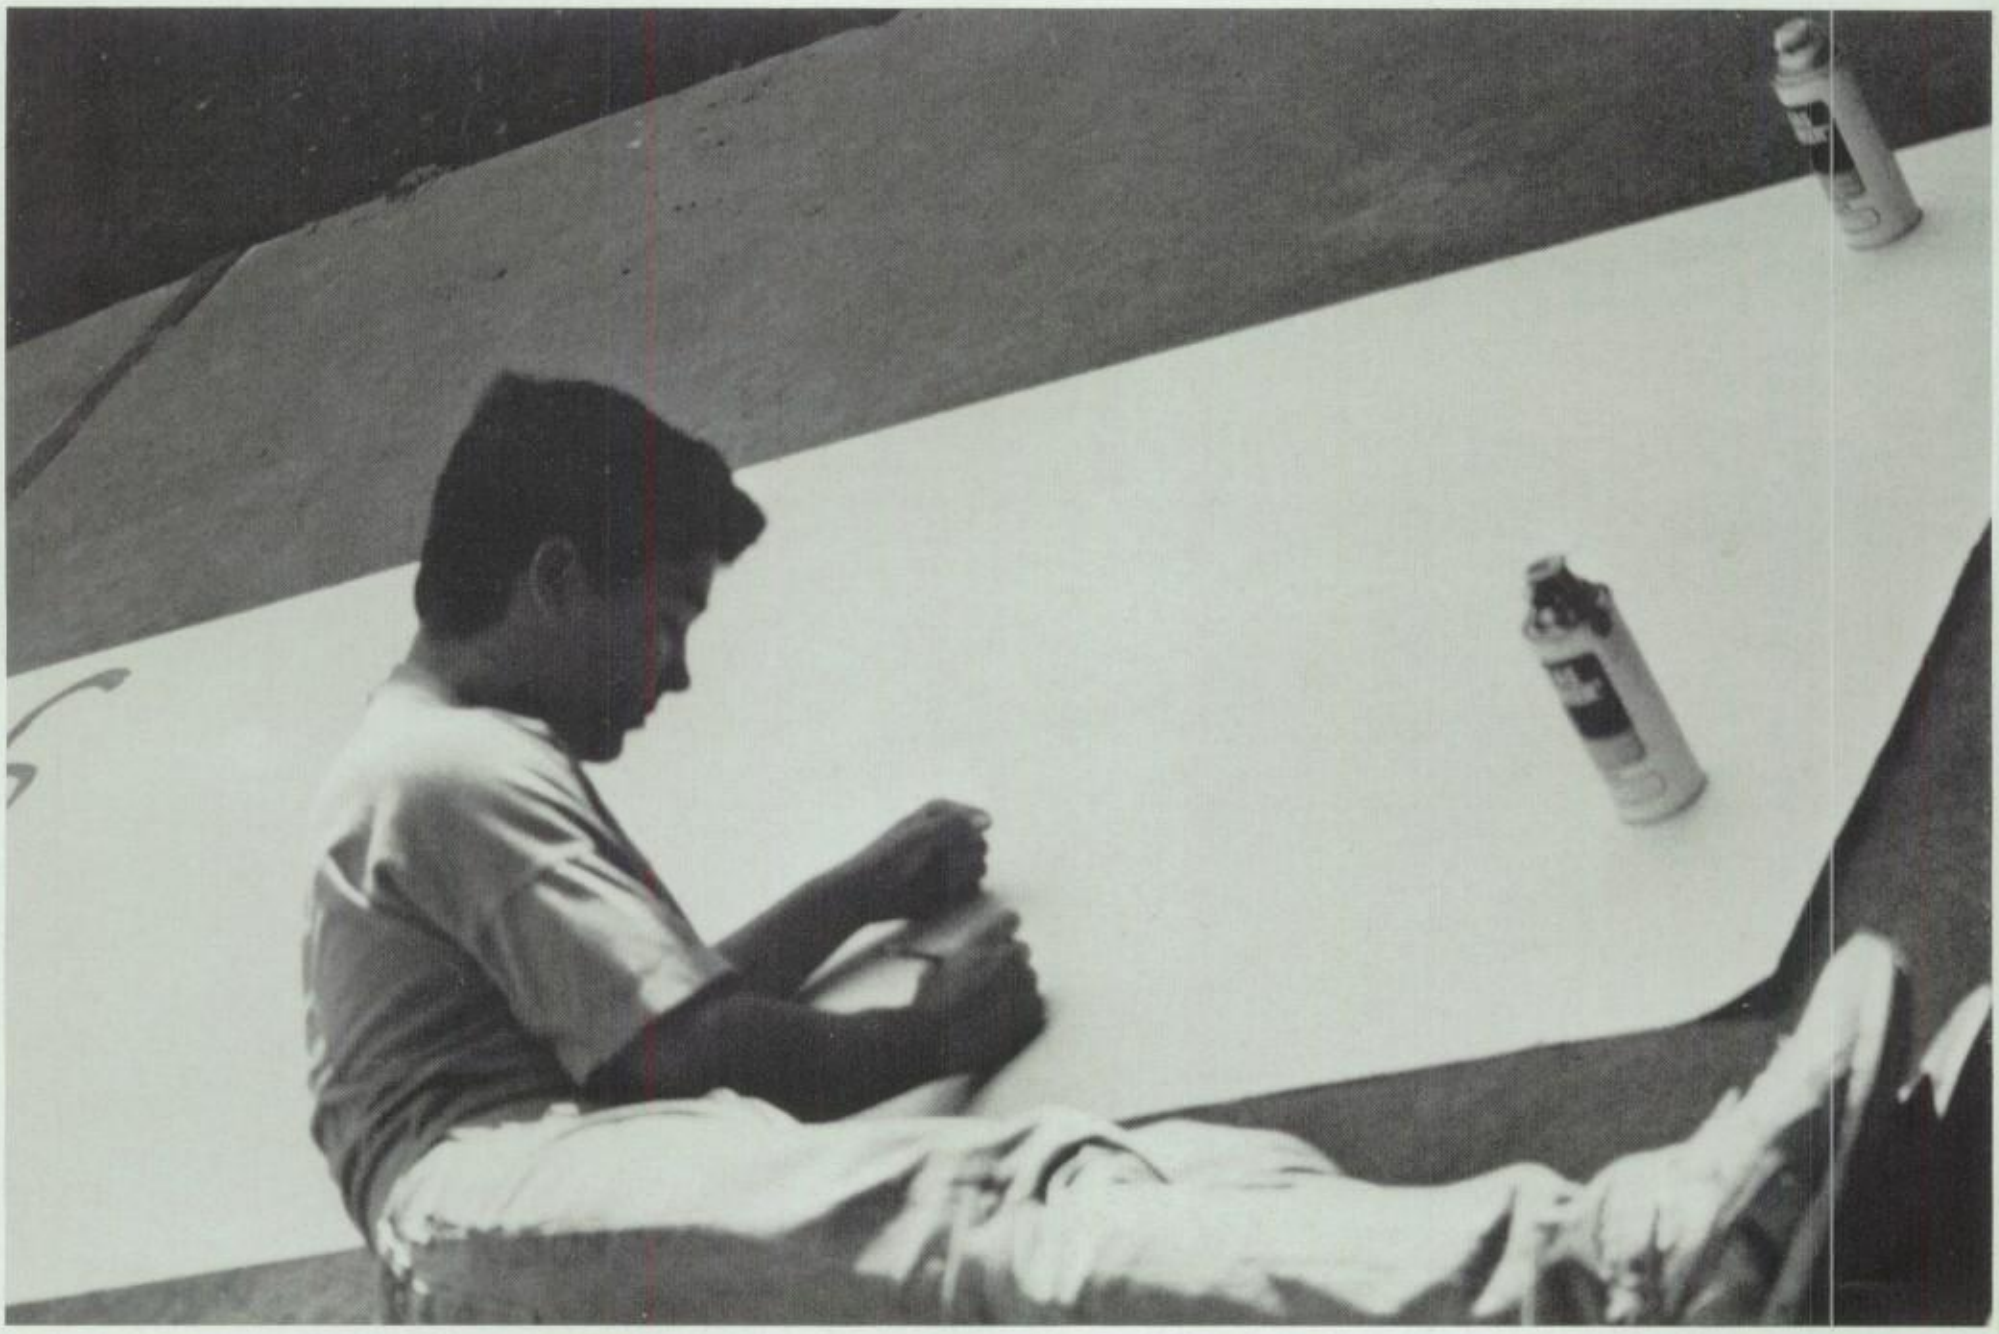
The Final Brush Stroke



Our year has just been looked at for what it was, both happy and sad. It is the Carillion staff's hope that these times will be looked upon for what they are - foundations for the future. The future is a very uncertain aspect. The past, however, is a little more definite. And here we hope that everyone will remember 1986-87 as the year in which we were given a task. A task which should be started on immediately. This task is not simple, and it will not be done quickly. For just as this collection of memories was not constructed without an ample supply of blood, sweat, and tears, this task is not fly-by-night. Just as the yearbook staff has filled these pages, we have been given the task to go and fill the world with our talents. Just as we will paint our abilities onto destiny, we have also been given the task to paint our tradition on it. Destiny is ours; let us go out and paint it blue and white.

-Joe Wilson
